Claims of landlords, etc.,
to goods seized
in execution,
how to be adjusted.

277.—(1) In case a claim be made to or in respect of any goods or chattels, property or security, taken in execution or attached under the process of a Division Court, or in respect of the proceeds or value thereof, by a landlord for rent, or by a person not being the party against whom the process issued, then, subject to the provisions of The Act respecting Absconding Debtors, the Clerk of the Court, upon application of the officer charged with the execution of the process, may, whether before or after an action has been brought against such officer, issue a summons calling before the Court out of which the process issued, or before the Court holden for the division in which the seizure under the process was made, as well the party who issued the process as the party making the claim, and thereupon any action which has been brought in the High Court or in a local or inferior Court in respect of the claim, shall be stayed.

Rev. Stat.

Costs.

(2) The Court in which the action has been brought, or a Judge thereof, on proof of the issue of the summons, and that the goods and chattels or property or security were so taken in execution or upon attachment, may order the party bringing the action to pay the costs of all proceedings had upon the action after the issue of the summons out of the Division Court.

County Judge
on claims.

(3) The County Judge having jurisdiction in such Division Court shall adjudicate upon the claim, and make such order between the parties in respect thereof, and of the costs of the proceedings as to him seems fit; and shall also adjudicate between the parties, or either of them, and the officer or Bailiff in respect of any damage or claim of or to damages arising or capable of arising out of the execution of the process by the officer or Bailiff, and make such order in respect thereof, and of the costs of any proceedings as to the Judge shall seem fit; and the order shall be enforced in like manner as an order made in an action brought in the Division Court, and shall be final and conclusive between the parties and as between them and the officer or Bailiff, except that upon the application of either the attaching or execution creditor or the claimant, or the officer or Bailiff, within fourteen days after the trial, the Judge may grant a new trial upon good grounds shewn, as in other cases under this Act, upon such terms as he thinks reasonable, and may in the meantime stay proceedings.

(4) In case the Bailiff has more than one execution or attachment at the suit or instance of different persons against the same property claimed as aforesaid, it shall not be necessary for the Bailiff to make a separate application on each execution or attachment; but he may use the names of such execution or attaching creditors collectively in such application, and the summons may issue in the name of the creditors as plaintiffs.

Where more than one execution or attachment has issued.

(5) Under the provisions of subsection 3 of this section the Judge shall have power to adjudicate upon and award damages, even though the amount of the damages claimed, found or awarded should be beyond the jurisdiction of a Division Court.

Power to award damages.

(6) In respect of any damages claimed, or of any judgment, order or finding under the provisions of subsections 3 and 5 of this section the parties and the Bailiff applying, shall have the same rights of defence and counter-claim, including in all cases the right and liability to costs, as would exist had an action, within the jurisdiction of the Division Court, been brought to recover the said damages. R. S. O. 1887, c. 51, s. 269.

Rights of parties as to defence and as to costs.

278.—(1) So much of the Act passed in the 8th year of the reign of Queen Anne, intituled An Act for the better security of Rents and to prevent Frauds Committed by Tenants, as relates to the liability of goods taken by virtue of any execution, shall not be deemed to apply to goods taken in execution under the process of any Division Court, but the landlord of a tenement in which any such goods are so taken may, by writing under his hand or under the hand of his agent, stating the terms of holding and the rent payable for the same, and delivered to the Bailiff making the levy, claim any rent in arrear then due to him, not exceeding the rent of four weeks when the tenement has been let by the week, and not exceeding the rent accruing due in two terms of payment where the tenement has been let for any other term less than a year, and not exceeding in any case the rent accruing due in one year. 8 Anne, c. 14

(2) Notice of the said claim may be given at any time before the return of the execution, notwithstanding that the goods may in the meantime have been removed from the premises upon which they were seized, and when the goods of a tenant are sold within ten days after the seizure, the money realized shall remain in court until the expiration of the said term of ten days to answer the claim of the landlord, and in cases where the money has been paid into court the notice may be directed to the Clerk with like effect as if given to the Bailiff before the sale of the goods so seized. 60 V. c. 14, s. 10.

proceed.

279. In case of any such claim being so made, the Bailiff making the levy shall distrain as well for the amount of the rent claimed, and the costs of the additional distress, as for the amount of money and costs for which the warrant of execution has issued, and shall not sell the same, or any part thereof, until after the expiration of at least eight days next following after the distress made. If replevin made.

281. If a replevin is made of the goods distrained, so much of the goods taken under the warrant of execution shall be sold as will satisfy the money and costs for which the warrant issued, and the costs of the sale, and the surplus of the sale and the goods so distrained shall be returned as in other cases of distress for rent and replevin thereof. R. S. O. 1887, c. 51, s. 273.

When landlord's claim to rent is to be first paid.

282. 285. If a Bailiff or officer, acting under colour or pretence of process of the Court, is guilty of extortion or misconduct, or does not duly pay or account for all money levied or received by him by virtue of his office, the Judge, at a sitting of the Court, if a party aggrieved thinks fit to complain to him in writing, may enquire into the matter in a summary way, and for that purpose he may summon and enforce the attendance of all necessary parties and witnesses, and may make such order thereupon for the repayment of any money extorted, or for the due payment of any money so levied or received, and for the payment of any such damages and costs to the parties aggrieved, as he thinks just; and in default of payment of the money so ordered to be paid by the Bailiff or officer within the time in the order specified for the payment thereof, the Judge may, by warrant under his hand and seal, cause such sum to be levied by distress and sale of the goods of the offender, together with the reasonable charges of the distress and sale, and in default of such distress (or summarily in the first instance) may commit the offender to the Common Gaol of the County for a period not exceeding three months. Misconduct of bailiffs and officers.

286. If a Clerk, Bailiff or other officer exacts or takes any fee or reward other than the fees appointed and allowed by law for or on account of anything done by virtue of his office, or on any account relative to the execution of this Act, he shall, upon proof thereof before the Court, be forever incapable of being employed in a Division Court in any office of profit or emolument, and shall also be liable in damages to the party aggrieved. Negligence of Bailiffs.

Bailiff neglecting duty in relation to execution.

287. In case a Bailiff employed to levy an execution against goods and chattels, by neglect, connivance or omission, loses the opportunity of so doing, then upon complaint of the party thereby aggrieved, and upon proof of the fact alleged to the satisfaction of the Court, the Judge shall order the Bailiff to pay such damages as it appears the plaintiff has sustained, not exceeding the sum for which the execution issued, and the Bailiff shall be liable therefor; and upon demand being made therefor and on his refusal to satisfy the same, payment shall be enforced by such means as are provided for enforcing judgments recovered in the Court. R. S. O. 1887, c. 51, s. 279.

Right of action against bailiff and sureties for neglect in returning execution or making false return.

288. If a Bailiff neglects to return an execution within three days after the return day thereof, or makes a false return thereto, the party who sued out the writ may maintain an action in any Court having competent jurisdiction against the Bailiff and his sureties on the covenant entered into by them, and shall recover therein the amount for which the execution issued, with interest thereon from the date of the judgment, or such less sum as in the opinion of the Judge or jury the plaintiff under the circumstances is justly entitled to recover. R. S. O. 1887, c. 51, s. 280.

Issuing execution against bailiff and sureties.

289. If a judgment is obtained in the action against the Bailiff and his sureties, execution shall immediately issue thereon, and in case of the departure or removal of the Bailiff from the limits of the County, the action may be commenced and carried on against his sureties alone, or against any one or more of them. 290. In case a Division Court imposes a fine under authority of this Act, the same may be enforced upon the order of the Judge, in like manner as a judgment for any sum adjudged therein, and shall be accounted for as herein provided. R. S. O. 1887, c. 51, s. 282.

How enforced by Justices of the Peace.

291. In all cases in which by this Act a penalty or forfeiture is made recoverable before a Justice of the Peace, such Justice may, with or without information in writing, summon before him the party complained against, and thereupon hear and determine the matter of the complaint, and on proof of the offence convict the offender and adjudge him to pay the penalty or forfeiture incurred, and proceed to recover the same. 294. In case, after the demand and compliance therewith by shewing the warrant to and permitting a copy thereof to be taken by the person demanding the same, an action is brought against the Bailiff or other person who acted in his aid for any such cause without making the Clerk who signed or sealed the warrant a defendant, then on producing or proving the warrant at the trial, the jury shall give their verdict for the defendant, notwithstanding any defect of jurisdiction or other irregularity in or appearing by the warrant. 85. Every Sheriff or other officer to whom any writ of venire facias or precept for the return of Jurors is directed, shall, to such writ or precept, return a panel of the names of the Jurors contained in the proper Jury List for the year, whose names shall be drafted from such list in the manner hereinafter mentioned. R. S. O. 1887, c. 52, s. 84.

86. If there be no Jurors' Book, or certified copy thereof, in existence for the year, the Sheriff may return to any such writ or precept a panel of Jurors selected in like manner from the proper Jury List in the Jurors' Book of the nearest preceding year, for which there is a Jurors' Book, or certified copy thereof, in existence. R. S. O. 1887, c. 52, s. 85.

If no juror's book for the year.

87. If there be no Jurors, or not a sufficient number of such Jurors upon any Jury List upon which a panel is so required to be drafted, liable to be drafted and to serve upon such panel, the Sheriff may return to the writ or precept a panel of Jurors selected in like manner, or the residue of whom respectively have been selected in like manner, from the proper Jury List in the Jurors' Book of the nearest preceding year for which there is a Jurors' Book, or certified copy thereof, in existence. R. S. O. 1887, c. 52, s. 86.

If not a sufficient number on the lists.

88. Upon any Sheriff or other officer being called upon to return a panel of Jurors, whether Grand or Petit, he shall give public written notice in his office, and also on the door of the Court House of the county, or if there be no Court House, then in some other public place, of the day and hour at which he will attend at the office of the Clerk of the Peace to draft such panel of Jurors from the Jury List, and at such time and place he shall proceed to draft the panel by ballot from the Jury List in the presence of the Clerk of the Peace and any two Justices of the Peace of the county, who, upon reasonable notice from the Sheriff, are hereby required to attend; and for such services the said Justices shall each receive the sum of $1 for each of such panels drafted, which sums shall be paid by the treasurer, on receipt of the Sheriff's certificate that such service has been performed. R. S. O. 1887, c. 52, s. 87; 60 V. c. 15, Sched. A (17).

What notice Sheriffs shall give.

Amount to be paid Justices of the Peace for each panel.

89. If the Sheriff or other officer has sufficient time he shall give every such notice at least eight days before the drafting of the panel, and if there be not sufficient time for that purpose, he shall give such notice as soon after his receipt of the precept or writ as conveniently may be. R. S. O. 1887, c. 52, s. 88.

Notice to be eight days, if time admits.

90. ing for the panel of Jurors to be returned, to which he shall fix an appropriate number according as such panel by the Jurors' Book appears to be the 1st, 2nd, 3rd or subsequent panel drafted, from such Jury List, and the title or heading shall set forth the number of Jurors to be returned in words at length, or (where such Sheriff has a discretion as to such number) the number that, in the exercise of such discretion, he has determined to return, and the number when discretionary shall not be altered after the same has been so inserted in such title or heading. R. S. O. 1887, c. 52, s. 90.

Ballots for
panel.

92. In the second place, the Sheriff or other officer shall append to such title or heading, a list of numbers from "1" forward to the number required, and shall prepare a set of ballots or pieces of parchment, card or paper of uniform and convenient size, such set containing the same number of ballots as there are numbers on the Jury List from which the panel is to be drafted, allowing one number to each ballot, which number shall be printed or written on the same, and he shall then proceed to draft the panel of Jurors in the manner hereinafter mentioned. R. S. O. 1887, c. 52, s. 91.

How panel of
drafted.

93. The manner of drafting the panel shall be as follows, that is to say :

1. The Sheriff, or other officer to whom the return of the panel belongs, shall place the ballots promiscuously in a box or urn to be procured by him for that purpose, and shall cause such box or urn to be shaken so as sufficiently to mix the ballots, and he shall then openly draw from the said box or urn indiscriminately one of the said ballots, and declare openly the number of such ballot, whereupon the Clerk of the Peace, or one of the Justices of the Peace, present as aforesaid at such drawing, shall immediately declare aloud the name to which such number is appended in the Jury List from which the panel is drafted ;

2. And thereupon, if such person is exempt from being drafted or serving upon such panel, under section 6 of this Act, or if upon the face of such Jury List it appears that the person whose number has been so drafted had previously been drafted to serve on a panel drafted from such Jury List in obedience to a precept for the return of a general panel for any Sittings of the High Court, General Sessions of the Peace, or County Court, and that such person had actually attended and served upon such panel, and if a sufficient number of names to complete the panel, then in course of being drafted, remain on such Jury List without taking any of those who had been previously drafted from the same list upon any former panel, the Sheriff shall publicly announce the same, and that the name of the person so drafted is, on such account, not inserted in the panel ;

3. If upon examination of such Jury List no such cause appears for omitting the name of such person from the panel then being drafted, the name and addition of the person whose name has been so drafted shall be thereupon written down on a sheet of paper provided for that purpose, and such name shall, by the Sheriff, or other officer, be thereupon marked on the said Jury List, with a reference to the number which will belong to such panel in the Jurors' Book ;

4. The Sheriff shall then proceed in like manner to draft and dispose of other numbers from the said box or urn, until the necessary number for the panel to be so drafted has been completed ;

5. The names so drafted, with the places of residence and additions of the parties, arranged alphabetically, shall then, by such Sheriff, or other officer, be transcribed on another sheet of paper, with a reference to the number of each such name respectively on the Jury List, and each such name shall, by the said Sheriff or other officer, or his Deputy, be thereupon marked upon the said Jury List, with a reference to the number which belongs to such name in the panel in the Jurors' Book ;

6. The panel so alphabetically arranged and numbered, with a short statement of the writ or precept in obedience to which it has been drafted, the date and place of such drafting, and the names of the Sheriff, or other officer or his Deputy and of the Clerk of the Peace and Justices of the Peace, present at such drafting, or of at least two of them, shall then be fairly entered in the said Jurors' Book, and attested by the signatures of such Sheriff, or other officer or his Deputy, and of the said Clerk of the Peace and the said Justices, or at least two of them. R. S. O. 1887, c. 52, s. 92.

94. The names of the Jury drafted for any panel shall be kept by the Sheriff under lock and key, and unless the party applying for an examination of the panel shall file with the Sheriff or other officer an affidavit made in a cause then pending, stating that he desires to examine the same, in order to determine whether a special Jury shall be struck in such cause, and that he is a party to such cause, or is the solicitor for one of the parties therein, and that the examination is not desired and will not be used for any other purpose, such names shall not be disclosed by any person present with the Sheriff or other officer whose duty it is to draft the panel, nor by the Sheriff or other officer, nor by his Deputy or other officer or clerk, except in so far only as it may be necessary so to do, in order to prepare the lists of the panel and serve the Jury summons, until six days before the sittings of the Court for which the list has been drafted. 58 V. c. 15, s. 3.

105.—(1) Where any issue is brought on to be tried, or damages are to be assessed, the Clerk shall, in open court, cause the box or urn to be shaken so as sufficiently to mix the names, and then draw out twelve of the parchments, cards or papers, one after another (causing the box or urn to be shaken after the drawing of each name), and if any of the Jurors whose names are so drawn do not appear or are challenged and set aside, then such further number, until twelve Jurors are drawn, who do appear, and who, after all just causes of challenge allowed, remain as fair and indifferent, and the first twelve Jurors so drawn, appearing and approved as indifferent, their names being noted in the minute book of the Clerk of the Court, shall be sworn or affirmed (as the case may be), and shall be the Jury to try the issue, or to assess the damages.

R. S. O. 1887, c. 52, s. 104.

107. Notwithstanding the last preceding two sections, where no objection is made on the part of the Queen, or any other party, the Court may try any issue or assess damages with the Jury previously drawn to try any other issue, or to assess damages, without their names being returned to the box or urn, and redrawn, or may order to retire any of the Jurors whom both parties consent to withdraw, or who may be justly challenged or excused by the Court, and may cause another name or other names to be drawn from the box or urn, and shall try the issue or assess the damages with the residue of the original Jury and the new Jurors who appear and are approved as indifferent, and so toties quoties as long as any issue remains to be tried or any damages remain to be assessed. New trial in special jury cases.

110.—(1) If any person not duly qualified be returned as a Juror for the trial of any issue in any cause, civil or criminal, or on any penal statute, the want of such qualification shall be a good cause of challenge, and he shall be discharged upon such challenge if the Court is satisfied of the fact; but the want of a sufficient property qualification shall not, at the trial of any such case, be a good cause of challenge, either by the Crown or by the party, nor a cause for discharging the Juror upon his own application. R. S. O. 1887, c. 52, s. 108.

(2) Nothing in this section contained shall extend in any wise to a Special Juror. R. S. O. 1887, c. 52, s. 109.

WHEREAS the Board of Trade of the City of Toronto has been enabled to procure the settlement of differences between the members of their corporation by arbitration with unusual economy and despatch; and whereas the said Board of Trade has resolved that in the opinion of the Board the success attendant on their system of arbitration justifies its extension to persons or corporations other than members of the Board; and whereas it is desirable to give effect to the experience of the said Board and to extend such system aforesaid and its advantages to other cities where Boards of Trade have been established, in case such Boards desire to avail themselves of this Act;

Therefore Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent, of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, enacts as follows:—

HER MAJESTY, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, enacts as follows :

Application of Act.

1. This Act shall not apply to lands situated in any city, town or incorporated village. 59 V. c. 21, s. 1.

Questions arising in any action, as to boundary line to be referred to surveyor.

2.—(1) Where in any action or other proceeding commenced on or after the 7th day of April, 1896, it appears to a Judge that a material question to be judicially determined between the parties is the true definition of a boundary line between adjoining lands, such question may be referred for trial to a special referee who shall be an Ontario Land Surveyor.

(2) The Surveyor shall, by a proper survey as directed by chapter 181 of these Statutes, and upon hearing, where he deems it necessary, the evidence under oath adduced by the parties and their counsel, if any, define upon the ground by such posts and monuments as he deems sufficient, the true boundary or division line so in dispute.

(3) The Surveyor shall make a report to the Court and shall therein set forth his mode of procedure and what he has done in the premises, and also such further or other facts and circumstances as may be necessary to enable the Court to finally determine the said question and how the costs should be borne. 59 V. c. 21, s. 2.

Application for reference.

3. An application for a reference may be made by any party to the litigation at any time after the commencement of the action or other proceeding upon an affidavit of any person familiar with the facts, and such application shall be an ordinary chamber application and subject to all the rules of practice applicable to such applications. 59 V. c. 21, s. 3.

Reference to be subject to Rev. Stat. c. 62.

4. The said reference shall be regarded as a reference under section 28 of The Arbitration Act. 59 V. c. 21, s. 4.

6. If upon the application it shall appear that from the nature of the other issues to be determined in the said litigation between the parties, or for other good cause, it would be a saving of expense, or otherwise to the advantage of both parties not to direct a reference, the reference may be dispensed with and the question in issue shall be tried as heretofore. 59 V. c. 21, s. 6.

When reference may be dispensed with.

7. In case all parties to the dispute concerning a boundary line consent, a summary application may be made to the Judge of the County Court of the County in which the lands are situated to name a special referee under this Act without any prior proceedings having been commenced or being then pending, and in such case the referee shall proceed as hereinbefore directed, and his report concerning the premises shall have the force and effect of a final award between the parties concerning the said disputed boundary line, and may be registered by either party thereto in the proper registry office against the lands affected thereby. 59 V. c. 21, s. 8.

Reference of disputed boundary lines by consent of parties.

8. In case the parties to the litigation or dispute fail to agree upon the Ontario Land Surveyor to be named as special referee under the provisions of this Act, the Judge to whom application is made for the reference shall not name or appoint an Ontario Land Surveyor who has theretofore been concerned in the survey of the lands in question or any part thereof or who has been otherwise engaged in directing a survey which affects or might affect such lands, or which involves the determination of a like question to that in dispute, nor shall the Ontario Land Surveyor appointed in such case be or have been at any time within ten years prior thereto a resident of the county in which the lands the boundary line whereof is in question are situate. 59 V. c. 21, s. 9.

Time to be limited.

(2) In every order giving effect to the petition, the Court shall limit a time not exceeding six months from the date of the order, within which the person desiring to traverse, and all other proper parties, shall proceed to the trial of the traverse; but the Court may under the special circumstances of any case, verified by affidavit, and upon a petition being presented for that purpose, allow the traverse to be had or tried after the time limited; and in such special case the Court may make such orders as seem just.

On the trial of an action for the making or publishing a libel, on the defence of not guilty, the jury sworn to try the issue may give a general verdict of guilty, or not guilty, upon the whole matter put in issue in the action, and shall not be required or directed by the Court or Judge, before whom the action is tried, to find the defendant guilty, merely on the proof of publication by the defendant of the paper charged to be a libel, and of the sense ascribed to the same in the action; but the Court or Judge before whom the trial is had shall, according to the discretion of the Court or Judge, give the opinion and directions of the Court or Judge to the jury on the matter in issue, as in other cases; and the jury may on such issue find a special verdict, if they think fit so to do, and the defendant, if found guilty, may move in arrest of judgment on such ground and in such manner as he might have moved before the passing of this Act. R. S. O. 1887, c. 57, s. 2.

3. In actions of libel and slander, the plaintiff may aver that the words or matter complained of were used in a defamatory sense, specifying the defamatory sense without any prefatory averment to shew how the words or matter were used in that sense, and the averment shall be put in issue by the denial of the alleged libel or slander; and where the words or matter set forth, with or without the alleged meaning, shew a cause of action, the statement of claim shall be sufficient. R. S. O. 1887, c. 57, s. 3.

Averments in actions for libel or slander.

4. In an action for defamation where the defendant has pleaded not guilty only, or has suffered judgment by default, or judgment has been given against him on demurrer, he may give in evidence, in mitigation of damages, that he made or offered a written or printed apology to the plaintiff for such defamation before the commencement of the action; or in case the action was commenced before there was an opportunity of making or offering such apology, that he did so as soon afterwards as he had an opportunity. R. S. O. 1887, c. 57, s. 4.

Proof of special damage not required in certain cases.

(2) A plaintiff shall not under this section, or because or by reason of the provisions in this section contained, be entitled to recover a verdict in any such action, unless the statement of claim contains an allegation that the action is brought by the plaintiff under the provisions of this section.

Statement of claim to refer to this section.

(3) In any such action, the defendant may, at any time after the filing of the statement of claim, apply to the Court or a Judge for security for costs, upon notice and an affidavit by the defendant shewing the nature of the action and that the plaintiff is not possessed of property sufficient to answer the costs of the action in case a verdict or judgment is given in favor of the defendant, and that the defendant has a good defence to the action on the merits, or that the grounds of action are trivial or frivolous; and the Court or Judge may make an order that the plaintiff shall give security for the costs to be incurred in such action, and the security so ordered shall be given in accordance with the practice in cases where

8.—(1) A report published in a newspaper of the proceedings of a public meeting shall be privileged, if the meeting was lawfully convened for a lawful purpose and open to the public, and if the report was fair and accurate, and published without malice, and if the publication of the matter complained of was for the public benefit; Provided always, that the protection intended to be afforded by this section shall not be available as a defence in any proceeding, if the plaintiff can shew that the defendant has refused to insert in a newspaper in which the report containing the matter complained of appeared, a reasonable letter or statement of explanation or contradiction by or on behalf of the plaintiff

(a) But where the alleged libel involves a criminal charge the defendant shall not be entitled to security for costs under this Act, unless he satisfies the Court or Judge that the action is trivial or frivolous,

(2) In a consolidated action under this section the jury shall assess the whole amount of the damages, if any, in one sum, but a separate verdict shall be taken for or against each defendant in the same way as if the actions consolidated had been tried separately; and if the jury shall have found a verdict against the defendant or defendants, in more than one of the actions so consolidated, they shall proceed to apportion the amount of damages which they shall have so found between and against the said last mentioned defendants; and the Judge at the trial, in the event of the plaintiff being awarded the costs of the action, shall thereupon make such order as he shall deem just for the apportionment of such costs between and against such defendants. 57 V. c. 27, s. 5.

SUBPŒNAS.

16. Where a party in an action desires to call the opposite party as a witness at the trial, he shall either subpoena such party or give to him or his solicitor at least eight days' notice of the intention to examine him as a witness in the cause, and if such party does not attend on the notice or subpoena, his non-attendance shall be taken as an admission pro confesso against him in the action, unless otherwise ordered by the Judge and a general finding or judgment may be had against the party thereon or the plaintiff may be non-suited, or the proceedings in the action may be postponed by the Judge, on such terms as he sees fit to impose. R. S. O. 1887, c. 61, s. 16.

A party to any action may be summoned as a witness by the opposite party, and consequences of non-attendance.

ISSUE OF SUBPŒNAS INTO ANY PART OF ONTARIO OR QUEBEC.

[Sections 4-11 and 13 of C. S. C. c. 79 are not consolidated in the Revised Statutes of Canada and are as follows:]

Courts may issue subpoenas to any part of Canada.

4. If in any action or suit depending in any of Her Majesty's Superior Courts of Law or Equity in Canada, it appears to the Court, or when not sitting, it appears to any Judge of the Court, that it is proper to compel the personal attendance at any trial, or enquête or examination of witnesses, of any person who may not be within the jurisdiction of the Court in which the action or suit is pending, the Court or Judge, in their or his discretion, may order that a writ called a writ of subpœna ad testificandum or of subpœna duces tecum shall issue in special form, commanding such person to attend as a witness at such trial or enquête or examination of witnesses wherever he may be in Canada.

Service thereof in any part of Canada to be good.

5. The service of any such writ or process in any part of Canada shall be as valid and effectual, to all intents and purposes, as if the same had been served within the jurisdiction of the Court from which it has issued, according to the practice of such Court.

When not to be issued.

6. No such writ shall be issued in any case in which an action is pending for the same cause of action, in that section of the Province, whether Upper or Lower Canada respectively, within which such witness or witnesses may reside.

Writs to be specially noted.

7. Every such writ shall have at the foot, or in the margin thereof, a statement or notice that the same is issued by the special order of the Court or Judge making such order and no such writ shall issue without such special order.

Consequences of disobedience.

8. In case any person so served does not appear according to the exigency of such writ or process, the Court out of which the same issued may, upon proof made of the service thereof, and of such default, to the satisfaction of such Court, transmit a certificate of such default, under the seal of the same Court, to any of Her Majesty's Superior Courts of Law or Equity in that part of Canada in which the person so served may reside, being out of the jurisdiction of the Court transmitting such certificate, and the Court to which such certificate is sent, shall thereupon proceed against and punish such person so having made default, in like manner as they might have done if such person had neglected or refused to appear to a writ of subpoena or other similar process issued out of such last mentioned Court.

If expenses paid or tendered.

9. No such certificate of default shall be transmitted by any Court, nor shall any person be punished for neglect or refusal to attend any trial or enquête or examination of witnesses, in obedience to any such subpoena or other similar process, unless it be made to appear to the Court transmitting and also to the Court receiving such certificate, that a reasonable and sufficient sum of money, according to the rate per diem and per mile allowed to witnesses by the law and practice of the Superior Courts of Law within the jurisdiction of which such person was found, to defray the expenses of coming and attending to give evidence and of returning from giving evidence, had been tendered to such person at the time when the writ of subpoena, or other similar process, was served upon him.

How service proved.

10. The service of such writs of subpoena or other similar process in Lower Canada, shall be proved by the certificate of a Bailiff within the jurisdiction where the service has been made, under his oath of office, and such service in Upper Canada by the affidavit of service endorsed on or annexed to such writ by the person who served the same.

Costs of attendance provided for.

11. The costs of the attendance of any such witness shall not be taxed against the adverse party to such suit, beyond the amount that would have been allowed on a commission rogatoire, or to examine witnesses, unless the Court or Judge before whom such trial or enquête or examination of witnesses is had, so orders.

13. Nothing herein contained shall affect the power of any Court to issue a commission for the examination of witnesses out of its jurisdiction, nor affect the admissibility of any evidence at any trial or proceeding, where such evidence is now by law receivable, on the ground of any witness being beyond the jurisdiction of the Court.

Power to issue commissions to examine witnesses preserved.

EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES.

17. Upon the trial of any cause a witness may be cross-examined as to previous statements made by him in writing, or reduced into writing, relative to the subject matter of the cause, without the writing being shewn to him; but if it is intended to contradict the witness by the writing, his attention must, before such contradictory proof can be given, be called to those parts of the writing which are to be used for the purpose of so contradicting him; and the Judge at any time during the trial, may require the production of the writing for his inspection, and he may thereupon make such use of it for the purposes of the trial as he thinks fit. R. S. O. 1887, c. 61, s. 17.

Proof of contradictory written statements.

18. If a witness upon cross-examination as to a former statement made by him relative to the subject matter of the cause, and inconsistent with his present testimony, does not distinctly admit that he did make such statement, proof may be given that he did in fact make it; but before such proof can be given, the circumstances of the supposed statement, sufficient to designate the particular occasion, must be mentioned to the witness, and he must be asked whether or not he did make such statement. R. S. O. 1887, c. 61, s. 18.

Proof of contradictory oral statements.

19.—(1) A witness may be questioned as to whether he has been convicted of any crime, and upon being so questioned, if he either denies the fact or refuses to answer, the opposite party may prove the conviction; and a certificate containing the substance and effect only (omitting the formal part) of the indictment and conviction for the offence, purporting to be signed by the clerk of the Court or other officer having the custody of the records of the Court at which the offender was convicted, or by the deputy of the clerk or officer, shall, upon proof of the identity of the witness as such convict, be sufficient evidence of his conviction, without proof of the signature or of the official character of the person appearing to have signed the certificate.

Proof of previous conviction of a witness may be given if he denies it, etc.

Certificate of conviction.

(2) For such certificate a fee of $1 and no more may be demanded or taken. R. S. O. 1887, c. 61, s. 19.

in case the witness, in the opinion of the Judge, proves adverse, such party may contradict him by other evidence, or, by leave of the Judge, may prove that the witness made at other times a statement inconsistent with his present testimony; but before such last mentioned proof can be given, the circumstances of the supposed statement, sufficient to designate the particular occasion, must be mentioned to the witness, and he must be asked whether or not he did make such statement. (2) The written instructions to be delivered to the sheriff shall specify the goods and chattels in such a way as to enable the sheriff to identify the same as the goods and chattels intended.

(3) The bond is to be a bond of indemnity to the sheriff and his assigns, with two sufficient sureties, who are to justify in double the supposed value of the property, such supposed value to be stated in an affidavit by the creditor or his solicitor or agent and attached to the bond.

(4) The bond is to be assignable to the claimant, and is to be conditioned that the parties executing the same will be liable for the costs and expenses which the sheriff or claimant may be put to by the seizure or subsequent dealings with the property, including the interpleader suit (if any), and which he does not recover from other persons who ought to pay the same.

R. S. O. 1887, c. 64, s. 22.

31. The effect of the seizure or taking in execution, sale and conveyance, of mortgaged lands and tenements, shall be to vest in the purchaser, his heirs and assigns, all the interest of the mortgagor therein at the time the writ was placed in the hands of the sheriff or other officer to whom the same is directed, as well as at the time of the sale, and to vest in the purchaser, his heirs and assigns, the same rights as the mortgagor would have had if the sale had not taken place; and the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, may pay, remove or satisfy any mortgage, charge or lien which at the time of the sale existed upon the lands or tenements so sold, in like manner as the mortgagor might have done; and thereupon the purchaser, his heirs and assigns, shall acquire the same estate, right and title as the mortgagor would have acquired in case the payment, removal or satisfaction had been effected by the mortgagor; and on payment of the mortgage money to the mortgagee by the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, the mortgagee, his heirs or assigns, shall, if required, give to the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, at his or their charge, a certificate of payment or satisfaction of the mortgage, which certificate may be in the following form, that is to say:

R. S. O. 1887, c. 64, s. 24.

(2) The right of a married woman to dower shall not be deemed seizable or saleable under execution before the death of her husband. R. S. O. 1887, c. 64, s. 25.

34.—(1) The interest of any person lawfully derived by deed, lease or license in writing from the wardens or other authorities of any church in a pew or sitting in such church, if such interest is lawfully assignable by the holder thereof, may be sold under judgment and execution at the suit of the said churchwardens or trustees of such church for arrears of any rent or other charge to which such sitting or pew is subject, or which the holder thereof may have agreed to pay or for which he may be lawfully liable, or at the suit of any creditor of such holder, and the churchwardens or other trustees of any such church may become purchasers at such sale on behalf of the church, and may relet or sell the right so acquired.

Deed.

(2) The sheriff may execute a deed to the purchaser of the interest so sold under execution, and such deed shall be effectual to the purchaser: and the churchwardens or trustees shall, on production of such deed, give effect to the same to the extent of the interest so sold, upon payment of any arrears of rent or charges then due.

Subject to rent, etc.

(3) Such sale shall be subject to any continuing rent or charge on such pew or sitting previously stipulated or imposed,

The title and interest of a testator or intestate in real estate may be seized and sold under a judgment and execution recovered by a creditor of the testator or intestate, against his executor or administrator, in the same manner and under the same process that the same could be sold under a judgment and execution against the deceased, if living. The Court or Judge may direct that one creditor shall have the carriage of the interpleader proceedings on behalf of all creditors interested, and the costs thereof, as between solicitor and client shall be a first charge upon the moneys or goods which may be found by the proceedings to be applicable upon the executions or certificates. Provisions in case of subsequent levy.

(6) In case the sheriff shall, subsequently to the entry of the notice, but within the month, levy a further amount from the property of a debtor, the same shall be dealt with as if such amount had been levied prior to the entry of the notice, but if after the month a further amount is levied a new notice shall be entered; and the distribution to be made of the amount so levied and of the further amount levied within a month of the entry of the last mentioned notice shall be governed by the entry thereof in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this section; and so on from time to time. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 4 (4).

No preference in respect of writ against goods or lands.

(7) In distributing money under this section creditors who have executions against goods or lands only or against goods and lands shall be entitled to share ratably with all others any moneys realized under execution against either goods or lands or against both. 51 V. c. 11, s. 2. No creditor shall be entitled to share in the distribution of money levied from the property of a debtor unless either by the delivery of a writ of execution, or otherwise under this Act, he has established a claim against the debtor either alone or jointly with some other person. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 5.

Proceedings where debtor allows execution to remain unsatisfied.

7.—(1) An affidavit to the effect of Form B, in the Schedule to this Act, of the debt and the particulars thereof, may be made in duplicate by the creditor, or by one of the creditors in case of a joint debt, or by a person cognizant of the facts. Prior to or simultaneously with the filing with the clerk of the County Court of the affidavit, there shall be filed with the clerk the certificate of the sheriff, or an affidavit, shewing that such proceedings have been had against the debtor as entitle the creditor to proceed under this Act.

Service on debtor.

(2) The claimant is to serve on the debtor one of the duplicates, and a notice stating that the claimant intends to file the other duplicate with the clerk of the County

Court by reason of there being in the sheriff's hands a writ of execution against the goods and chattels (or lands) of the debtor, and that the claimant intends to call on the sheriff to levy the said debt out of the property of the debtor under the authority of this Act; which notice is to contain the other particulars, shown in the Form C, given in the Schedule to this Act. The notice may be either attached to the affidavit served, or endorsed thereon; where the affidavit is to be served out of Ontario the Judge shall limit the time at which the next step may be taken by the claimant as hereinafter provided. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 7.

8.—(1) An execution debtor may give notice in writing to the sheriff that any claims to be served upon him may be served upon any solicitor in the Province, whose name and address shall be given, or by mailing the same to an address stated in the notice: the sheriff shall thereupon enter the notice in the said book in section 4 mentioned, and so long as any execution, which was in the sheriff's hands at the time the notice was given shall remain in his hands, shall repeat such entry immediately below any notice (Form A) given in respect of the execution, unless the notice be revoked in writing, in which case the entry or entries thereof shall be marked "revoked."

Notice by debtor of address for service.

(2) So long as the notice is not revoked in manner aforesaid an affidavit of claim and accompanying notice under this Act, may, where a solicitor is named, be served upon an execution debtor by serving the same upon the solicitor in accordance with this Act, or if mailing is required, then by mailing the same, enclosed in an envelope, prepaid and registered, to the address given in the notice.

Service of affidavit of claim with notice.

(3) In case the notice (Form C) served on a debtor does not state some place in or within three miles of the county town of the county in which the proceedings are being taken, at which service may be made upon the claimant, or does not give the name and address of some solicitor in the Province who may be served on the claimant's behalf, service of any notice, paper or document requiring service may be made upon the claimant by mailing the same, prepaid and registered, enclosed in an envelope addressed to the claimant at the county town.

Service on claimant where no address given.

Affidavit to be filed with clerk of county court.

(5) The copy of affidavit and the notice shall, where practicable, be personally served upon the debtor; but if it be made to appear to a Judge that the claimant is unable to effect prompt personal service, the Judge may order substituted or other service, or may appoint some act to be done which shall be deemed sufficient service. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 8.

Mode of service.

Certificate to be given to creditor where claim not disputed.

9.—(1) If the claim is not contested in manner hereinafter mentioned, the County Court Clerk—after ten days from the day of personal service, or service under subsection 2 of section 8, or within the time mentioned in the order (as the case may be), on application and the filing with him of proof of personal service upon the debtor of an affidavit and notice in accordance with this Act, or proof of compliance with a Judge's order in that behalf, or upon the determination of the dispute in favour of the claimant, either in whole or in part—shall deliver to the creditor, or any one on his behalf, a certificate to the effect of Form E, in the Schedule hereto; and in case the claim is only disputed as to a part, the creditor may elect, by a writing filed with the clerk, to abandon such part and obtain a certificate as to the residue.

Effect of certificate.

(2) The certificate shall be delivered to the sheriff, and thereby from the time of the delivery the claimant shall be deemed to be an execution creditor within the meaning of this Act, and to be entitled to share in whatever is made under the executions of creditors in the sheriff's hands, as if he had delivered to the sheriff an execution against lands or goods, or both, as the case may be, and the certificate shall in like manner bind the lands and goods of the debtor; subject, however, to the debt being afterwards disputed by a creditor as hereinafter provided.

Certificate an execution for interpleader purposes.

Address for service to be endorsed on certificate.

(3) A certificate under this Act shall in interpleader proceedings be deemed to be an execution.

(4) If the certificate is obtained by a solicitor, the name and place of abode of the solicitor shall be endorsed thereon; and if the certificate is sued out by the claimant in person there shall be endorsed thereon a statement of some place in, or within three miles of the county town of the county in which the proceedings are being taken, at which service may be made upon the claimant; and, in default thereof, service of any notice, paper or document requiring service, may be made upon the claimant by mailing the same, prepaid and registered, enclosed in an envelope addressed to the claimant at the county town.

On receipt of certificate sheriff to make further levy.

(5) On receiving the certificate the sheriff shall make a further seizure of the lands and tenements, or goods and chattels, as the case may be (if any), of the debtor to the amount of the debt so claimed, and the sheriff's fees; and so on from time to time in case more certificates are received after the further seizure so made. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 9.

Time certificate to remain in force.

(6) A certificate issued under this Act shall remain in force for three years from the date thereof and no longer, unless renewed, but such certificate may from time to time be renewed in the same manner as a writ of execution, but notwithstanding the expiry of a writ or certificate prior to the termination of the month during which a notice of money having been made is under this Act required to be posted, the said writ and certificate shall, as to any money levied during such month, be deemed to be in full force and effect. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 29 (2); 60 V. c. 14, s. 91.

10.—(1) The claim may be contested by the execution debtor or by a creditor interested in contesting the same. Disputing claim.

(2) If the debtor contests the claim, he shall for that purpose file with the clerk an affidavit stating that he has a good defence to the claim, or to a specified part of the claim on the merits, but the Judge may dispense with the affidavit on terms or otherwise. Affidavit of debtor.

(3) The debtor shall file the affidavit and serve upon the claimant a copy thereof within ten days after the personal service, or service under subsection of 2 section 8, upon him of the affidavit of claim and the notice, or within the time which the Judge by an order dispensing with personal service directed, or within any further time which the Judge may allow: the affidavit shall have endorsed thereon a statement of some place in, or within three miles of, the county town of the county in which the proceedings are being taken, at which service may be made upon the debtor, or the address of some solicitor in the Province who may be served on the debtor's behalf, and in default thereof, service of any notice, paper, or document requiring service, may be made upon the debtor by mailing the same, prepaid and registered, enclosed in an envelope addressed to the debtor at such county town. Filing and service of affidavit.

Address for service.

(4) If the contest is by a creditor, he shall for that purpose file with the clerk an affidavit to the effect that he has reason to believe that the debt claimed is not really and in good faith due from the debtor to the claimant; but the Judge may dispense with the affidavit on terms or otherwise. Creditor disputing claim.

(5) Such affidavit by a creditor may be so filed, and a certificate thereof delivered to the sheriff, at any time before distribution is made. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 10. Time for filing affidavit.

11.—(1) In case of a claim being contested by a creditor after a certificate has been placed in the sheriff's hands, the sheriff, unless the Judge otherwise orders, shall proceed and levy as if such contestation had not been made, and the sheriff shall, until the determination of the contestation, retain in the bank the amount which would be apportionable to the claim if valid, and he shall, as soon after the expiry of the said month as practicable, distribute the residue of the money made amongst those entitled. Distribution by sheriff in case of contestation.

(2) The claimant whose claim is contested may apply to a Judge for an order allowing his claim and determining the amount; and in case he does not make such application within eight days of his receiving notice of the contestation (or within such further time, if any, as the Judge upon the delay being reasonably accounted for may allow), he shall be taken to have abandoned his claim; if the contestant is a creditor and there is reason to believe that the contestation is not being carried on in good faith, any other creditor may apply for an order permitting him to intervene in the contest. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 11. Proceedings to enforce claim.

Mode of determining questions in dispute.

12.—(1) The Judge may determine any questions in dispute in a summary manner, or may direct an action or issue, in any Court or county, for the trial thereof, and may make such order as to the costs of the proceedings as may be just.

Where sum in dispute is over $400.

(2) Where there is a dispute as to material facts, and the sum in controversy appears to be over $400, exclusive of costs, the Judge shall direct the trial to be in the High Court and may name the county in which the trial is to take place, subject to any order which the High Court or a Judge thereof may see fit to make in that behalf. In case an issue is directed it shall be tried in all respects as if it had been an action in the Court in which it was ordered to be tried. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 12.

Examination of parties.

13. The same proceedings may be had for the examination of parties or others, either before or at the trial, as may be taken in an ordinary action, and such proceedings, may also be taken prior to the application to the Judge, and as a foundation therefor. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 13.

14. A creditor who has recovered a judgment in a Division Court against the debtor may serve upon the sheriff a memorandum of the amount of his judgment and of the costs to which he is entitled, under the hand of the clerk and the seal of the Division Court; and the memorandum so served shall have the same effect for the purposes of this Act as if the creditor had delivered to the sheriff a writ of execution directed to the said sheriff from a County Court. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 14

Establishing claim in another county.

15. Where a creditor has taken in one county the prescribed proceedings in respect of his claim, and desires to establish his claim for the purposes of this Act in another county also, he may do so by obtaining from the said County Court Clerk another certificate (Form E), and delivering the same to the sheriff of such other county, and the delivery of the certificate to the sheriff shall have the same effect for the purposes of this Act in the county in which the same takes place, from the day of the delivery, as if a new notice and affidavit of claim had been served for the county and other proceedings had in respect thereof under the previous provisions of this Act. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 15.

Writs may be sued out into any county.

16. A creditor, entitled to a certificate from the County Court Clerk, may sue out a writ of execution into any county in the same manner as on an ordinary judgment. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 16.

Decision in one county binding in others.

17. In case a claim is contested in one county, the decision thereon shall, as between the parties to it, determine the amount of the claim for the purposes of this Act in all other counties in which the claim is filed, and the certificate of the Clerk of the County Court of the county in which the contest has taken place, of the result thereof, shall be prima facie proof of the decision. A certificate shall, upon payment of a fee of fifty cents, be granted to any party to the proceedings who applies therefor. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 17.

The clerk shall index the entries in the book alphabetically under the name of every debtor.

Effect of entry.

Index.

(3) In case the original papers happen to be lost or destroyed, a copy of the entry in the book shall be evidence of all matters therein set forth. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 18.

19.—(1) With respect to claims, the Judge, before or after a certificate is issued by the clerk under this Act, or delivered to the sheriff, may, on the application of the debtor, and notice to a claimant, give to the debtor further time to pay the claim where the Judge is of opinion that this can be done without injustice to the creditor, or may give to the debtor further time on terms which in the opinion of the Judge may be just. There may be successive orders for this purpose, but no claim shall be delayed by such orders for more than three months in all.

Granting time to debtor.

(2) This section shall not apply to creditors who have obtained judgment in the ordinary way ; and the orders for time are not to prejudice executions obtained by such creditors on such judgments. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 19.

Preceding subsection not to apply in certain cases.

20.—(1) In case the debtor, without any sale by the sheriff, pays the full amount owing in respect of the executions and claims in the sheriff's hands at the time of such payment, and no other claim has been filed with the Clerk of the County Court, or in case all executions and claims in the sheriff's hands are withdrawn, and any claims served are paid or withdrawn, no notice shall be entered as required by section 4 of this Act,

(2) Save as aforesaid, after a certificate has been filed with the sheriff, the withdrawal or expiry of the writ, upon which the proceedings are founded, or any stay upon the writ, or the satisfaction of the plaintiff's claim thereon, or the setting aside or return of the writ, shall not affect the proceedings to be taken under this Act, and except so far as the action taken in regard to the writ may affect the amount to be levied, the sheriff shall proceed and levy upon the goods or lands of the debtor, or both, as he would have proceeded had the writ or writs remained in his hands in full force to be executed, and he may also take the like proceedings as he would have been entitled to take had the writ been a writ of venditioni exponas. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 20 (2).

29.—(1) Where money is made upon a writ, the same shall be taken for the purposes of the sheriff's return, and otherwise to be made upon all the writs or certificates entitled to the benefit thereof, and the sheriff shall, upon payment being made to the person entitled upon such writ or certificate, endorse thereon a memorandum of the amount so paid, but he shall not, except on the request of the party issuing the writ, or by direction of the Court out of which the same issues, or of a Judge having the authority of a Judge of such Court, return the writ until the same has been fully satisfied, or unless the same has expired by effluxion of time, in which case the sheriff shall make a formal return of the amount made thereon. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65 s. 29 (1).

R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 30.

31. The sheriff shall at all times without fee answer any reasonable question which he may be asked orally in respect to the estate of the debtor by a creditor, or any one acting upon behalf of a creditor, and shall facilitate the obtaining by him of full information as to the value of the estate, and the probable dividend to be realized therefrom in his county, or any other information in connection with the estate which the creditor may reasonably desire to obtain. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 31. Sheriff to give information as to estate of debtor.

32. 4. Any person prejudiced by the proposed scheme of distribution, may contest the same in manner following, namely, by giving a notice in writing to the sheriff, stating therein distinctly his objection to the scheme (or any part thereof) and the grounds of objection, and by, at the same time, delivering to the sheriff an affidavit of previous service of a copy of the notice on the debtor and the creditors interested in resisting the objection, unless the Judge shall by order have dispensed with service, or on affidavit of service as the Judge shall have sanctioned ;

5. The contestant shall, within eight days thereafter, apply upon notice to the Judge for an order adjudicating upon the matter in dispute ; and otherwise the contestation shall be taken to be abandoned. The notice may be in the Form G in the Schedule hereto ;

6. The Judge may determine any questions in dispute in a summary manner, or may direct an issue or action for the trial thereof, either by a jury or otherwise and in any Court or county, and may make such order as to the costs of the proceedings as may be just. 7. In the event of a claimant under a contestation being held not entitled, or only entitled to part of his claim, the money retained pending the contestation, or the portion as to which the claimant shall have failed, shall be distributed among the execution creditors and other creditors who would have been entitled thereto, as the same would have been distributed had the claim in respect thereof not been made. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 32.

Directions by Judge to avoid unnecessary parties and trials.

33. In case several creditors are interested in a contestation, either for or against the same, the Judge shall give such directions for saving the expense of an unnecessary number of parties and trials, and of unnecessary proceedings, as may be just, and he shall direct by whom and in what proportions any costs incurred in the contestation, or in any proceedings thereunder, shall be paid ; and whether any and what costs shall be paid out of the money levied. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 33.

Direction by Judge to sheriff where claims disputed.

34.—(1) The Judge may, if he sees fit, direct the sheriff to levy for an amount sufficient to cover a claim which is in dispute, or part thereof, or in case it appears to the Judge that it is improbable that the defendant has other sufficient property, he may order the sheriff to retain in his hands during the contestation the share which, if the claim is sustained, will be apportionable to it, or may make an order combining the orders above authorized, or such similar order as may be just.

(2) An order to levy under this section shall clothe the sheriff with the same authority as he would possess under a writ of execution, duly issued against the debtor, directing the sheriff to levy the like amount out of the goods and lands of the debtor. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 34.

35. The decision under this Act of a County Court Judge, or a Divisional Court on an appeal, shall bind all creditors, unless it appears that the decision was obtained by fraud or collusion by the parties to the contestation. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 35; 59 V. c. 18, Sched. (38). Decisions to be binding on all creditors.

36. In case a sheriff has money in his hands, which, by reason of the provisions of this Act, or otherwise, he cannot immediately pay over to the execution creditors, or other claimants under this Act, he shall deposit the money, whenever the same amounts to $100, in some incorporated bank designated for this purpose from time to time by order of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, or where there is no such bank, then in some incorporated bank in which public money of the Province is then being deposited: the deposit to be made in the name of the sheriff, but to a special account in his name as "Trustee for the creditors of _____" (the debtor). R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 36. Sheriff to deposit moneys in bank.

37.—(1) Where there are in the sheriff's hands several executions and claims, and there are not, or do not appear to be, sufficient lands or goods, as the case may be, to pay all and his own fees, he may apply for an order attaching any debt owing to the execution debtor by any person resident in the county of such sheriff, whether the debt is owing by such person alone or jointly with another person resident or not resident in such county, and to procure the attachment the sheriff may take the same proceedings as a creditor: and in such case a writ of execution, or other writ in the course of the proceedings, may be directed to him in the same manner as if the attachment were by a creditor; and the proceeds of the debts attached shall be distributed in the same manner as if he had realized the same under execution. Attaching orders by sheriff or creditors.

(2) In case the sheriff does not take such proceedings, any person entitled to distribution may take the same for the benefit of himself and all other persons entitled to distribution as aforesaid, and the person owing the attached debt shall pay the same to the sheriff.

(3) Any judgment creditor who attaches a debt shall be deemed to do so for the benefit of himself and all creditors entitled under this Act; payment of such debt shall be made to the sheriff, who in making distribution shall apportion to such judgment creditor a share pro rata, according to the amount owing upon his judgment, of the whole amount to be distributed under the provisions of this Act, but such share shall not exceed the amount recovered by the garnishee proceedings unless the judgment creditor has placed a writ in the sheriff's hands.

(4) Money garnished and paid into the sheriff's hands shall be deemed to be money levied under execution, within the meaning of this Act, except that, unless the garnishee proceedings were taken by him, the sheriff shall only be entitled to charge poundage on such moneys at the rate of one and a quarter per cent.

(5) The provisions of subsections 3 and 4 of this section shall also apply, as nearly as may be, to any person who attaches a debt in the Division Court before judgment, and to the money so attached.

(6) In case a garnishee, under an order of the Court, pays to the attaching creditor, or in case a garnishee, without notice that the sheriff is entitled, pays the amount of his debt into Court and the same is paid out to the said creditor, the sheriff may recover from him the amount so received. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 37.

Appeal.

38. If any party to any contestation, matter or thing upon which a Judge has made or rendered any final order or judgment, is dissatisfied with such order or judgment, and the same is in respect to a question involving a sum greater than $100, he may appeal therefrom to a Divisional Court of the High Court, subject to the like practice, as nearly as may be, as is from time to time in force in respect of appeals from a County Court or Judge, unless and until Rules establishing a different practice shall be made under the provisions of sections 122 and 125 of The Judicature Act, which shall apply to this Act. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 38, part; 59 V. c. 18, Sched. (39).

Powers of judge.

39. A Judge for the purpose of giving effect to this Act and carrying out its provisions shall have all the powers which a County Court or a Judge thereof has by law for other purposes; and any proceedings wrongly taken under this Act may be set aside by the Judge, with or without costs as he thinks fit. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 40.

Defects of form.

40. No proceeding under this Act shall be void for any defect of form; and the Rules, for amending or otherwise curing irregularities or defects, which may from time to time be in force in the County Courts shall apply to this Act. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 41.

41. Besides the fees otherwise authorized to be paid to the Clerk of the County Court for his own use, the following fees shall be levied on the following proceedings under this Act upon all claims filed, where the amount of the claim exceeds $200, and the same shall be payable to the Crown in stamps, subject to the provisions of The Act respecting Law Stamps :—

Where the claim is contested ; on the proceedings after the order, the same fees as are now payable on like proceedings in the High Court. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 42.

42. This Act is not intended to interfere with the Insolvency Laws which may from time to time be in force in this Province, but this Act is intended to be subject to such laws, and subject as aforesaid to apply to all debtors whether solvent or not. R. S. O. 1887, c. 65, s. 43.

(2) An order for sale may be made upon the application of a creditor having an order of attachment, or a writ of execution, in the hands of the sheriff, and shall be made if the Court or Judge is satisfied that the alleged debtor has in fact absconded indebted to the applicant, and that the property attached is not sufficient to pay in full the claims of the persons who have obtained orders of attachment, or execution, but this provision shall not be construed to restrict the authority of the Court or Judge to make an order in other cases; and in all cases terms may be imposed.

(3) The costs of the first order of attachment shall have priority over all execution debts and other costs. R. S. O. 1887, c. 66, s. 20.

[As to sales of shares, etc., in Companies, see secs. 10 to 16 of "The Execution Act," Cap. 77.]

ATTACHMENT OF DEBTS DUE TO ABSCONDING DEBTOR.

11. In case notice in writing of the order of attachment has been duly served by the sheriff, or by or on behalf of the plaintiff, upon a person owing a debt or demand to, or who has the custody or possession of property or effects of, an absconding debtor, and in case such person after such notice pays the debt or demand or delivers the property or effects to the absconding debtor, or to any one for him, he shall be deemed to have done so fraudulently, and if the plaintiff recovers judgment against the absconding debtor, and the property and effects seized by the sheriff are insufficient to satisfy the judgment, such person shall be liable for the amount of the debt or demand, and for the property and effects or the value thereof. R. S. O. 1887, c. 66, s. 21.

Liability of persons paying debts to absconding debtor after notice of attachment.

12. If after notice as aforesaid a person indebted to the absconding debtor, or having custody of his property as aforesaid, is sued for the debt, demand or property by the absconding debtor, or by the person to whom the absconding debtor has assigned the debt, demand or property since the date of the order of attachment, he may, on affidavit, apply to the Court or a Judge, to stay proceedings in the action against himself, until it is known whether the property and effects so seized by the sheriff, are sufficient to discharge the sum or sums recovered against the absconding debtor, and the Court or Judge may direct an issue to try any disputed question of fact or make such other order as is proper. R. S. O. 1887, c. 66, s. 22.

Debtor if sued by defendant after service of notice of attachment may obtain stay of proceedings.

WHEN SHERIFF MAY SUE FOR OUTSTANDING DEBTS.

13. If the real and personal property, credits and effects of an absconding debtor prove insufficient to satisfy the executions obtained against him and claims certified under The Creditors' Relief Act, the sheriff may, by order of the Court or a Judge, to be granted on the application of any plaintiff or claimant sue for and recover from any person indebted to the absconding debtor, the debt, claim, property or right of action attachable under this Act, and owing to or recoverable by the absconding debtor, with costs of suit, in which action the defendant shall be allowed to set up any defence which would have availed him against the absconding debtor at the date of the order of attachment, and a recovery in the action by the sheriff shall operate as a discharge as against the absconding debtor; and the sheriff shall hold and apply the moneys recovered by him as part of the assets of the absconding debtor. R. S. O. 1887, c. 66, s. 23.

Debtor of defendant may be sued by sheriff if defendant's property is not sufficient to satisfy claims.

Rev. Stat. c. 78.

14. The statement of claim in the action by the sheriff shall contain an introductory averment to the effect following:

Averment to be inserted in Sheriff's statement of claim.

R. S. O. 1887, c. 66, s. 24.

Sheriff not bound to sue until creditor gives bond of indemnity.

15. The sheriff shall not be bound to sue as aforesaid until a bond is given by one or more of the plaintiffs or claimants with two sufficient sureties, who may be other of the plaintiffs or claimants, payable to the sheriff by his name of office in double the amount or value of the debt or property sued for, conditioned to indemnify him from all costs, losses and expenses to be incurred in the prosecution of the action or to which he may become liable in consequence thereof. R. S. O. 1887, c. 66, s. 25.

Sale of debts by sheriff.

Rev. Stat. c. 78.

16. If the real and personal property, credits and effects of an absconding debtor prove insufficient to satisfy the executions obtained against him and claims certified under The Creditors' Relief Act, and if there remain debts due to the absconding debtor, the attempt to collect which would be more onerous than beneficial to his creditors, the sheriff may, by an order of the Court or a Judge, sell such debts by public auction after such advertisement thereof as the Court or Judge may order, and pending such advertisement the sheriff shall keep a list of the debts to be sold open for inspection at his office, and shall give free access to all documents and vouchers explanatory of such debts; but all debts amounting to more than $100 shall be sold separately, unless the Court or Judge shall otherwise order. 52 V. c. 11, s. 2, part.

Purchaser entitled to sue in his own name.

17. The person who purchases a debt from the sheriff may sue for it in his own name, and without any further order of the Court or Judge, as effectually as the absconding debtor might have done, and as the sheriff is by section 13 hereof authorized to do, and a bill of sale, which may be in the form in the Schedule to this Act, or to the like effect, signed and delivered to him by the sheriff, shall be prima facie evidence of such purchase and of the sheriff's authority to sell without proof of the handwriting of the sheriff, or of the writ or order, or of the sale, and no warranty on the part of the sheriff that the debt is due or otherwise shall be created by such sale and conveyance, and in any action by the purchaser of such debt the defendant shall be allowed to set up any defence which would have availed him against the absconding debtor at the date of the order of attachment. 52 V. c. 11, s. 2, part.

12. The sheriff at the request of a person arrested under civil process shall grant to such person a delay of twenty-four hours after his arrest before committing him to gaol, and shall take such person for the said twenty-four hours to some safe and convenient house in his shrievalty; provided such person prepays to the sheriff a sum of money sufficient to cover the sheriff's reasonable fees and expenses incident to the delay. 55 V. c. 15, s. 2.

Person arrested out of his county may be transferred to it upon paying the cost.

13. A person arrested and committed to gaol in any other county than that in which he resided or carried on business at the time, shall be entitled to be transferred to the gaol of his own county, on prepaying the expense of his removal; and the sheriff in whose county he was arrested may, if he is satisfied of the facts, transfer him accordingly; but if the sheriff declines to act without an order of the Court or a Judge, such an order shall be made on the application of the prisoner, and notice to the opposite party. R. S. O. 1887, c. 67, s. 12.

14. The limits of every county for judicial purposes shall be the limits of the gaol of the county. R. S. O. 1887, c. 67 s. 13.

SECURITY FROM DEBTORS IN CIVIL CUSTODY.

15. The sheriff of a county may take from a debtor confined in the gaol thereof, in execution or upon mesne process, a bond with not less than two nor more than four sufficient sureties, to be jointly and severally bound in a penalty of double the amount for which the debtor is so confined, conditioned, that the debtor will observe and obey all notices, or orders of Court touching or concerning the debtor, or his appearing to be examined viva voce, or his returning and being remanded into close custody, and that upon reasonable notice to them or any of them, requiring them so to do, they will produce the debtor to the sheriff, and also that the debtor will within thirty days, cause the bond, or the bond that may be substituted for the same, according to the provisions hereinafter contained, to be allowed by the Judge of the County Court of the County wherein the debtor is confined, and the allowance to be endorsed thereon by the Judge: and for this purpose the sheriff shall, upon reasonable notice given by the debtor, cause such first mentioned bond to be produced before the Judge. R. S. O. 1887, c. 67, s. 14.

Sheriff may take security from debtors in custody.

16. The sheriff may also require each surety, where there are only two, to make oath in writing, to be annexed to the bond, that he is a freeholder or householder in some part of Ontario (stating where), and is worth the sum for which the debtor is in custody (naming it) and $200 more, over and above what will pay all his debts; or where there are more than two sureties, then he may require each surety to make oath as aforesaid, that he is a freeholder or householder as aforesaid, and is worth one-half the sum for which the debtor is in custody (naming it), and $200 more, over and above what will pay all his debts. R. S. O. 1887, c. 67, s. 15.

Surety to make affidavit, etc.

17. Upon receipt of the bond, accompanied by an affidavit of a subscribing witness of the due execution thereof, and by the sureties' affidavits of sufficiency, if required by the sheriff, the sheriff may permit and allow the debtor to go out of close custody in gaol; and so long as the debtor in all respects observes the conditions of the bond, the sheriff shall not be

Application
for allowance of bond to be made on motion, etc.

18. The debtor may apply for the allowance of the bond upon four clear days' notice in writing to the plaintiff or his solicitor, who at the time of the application may object to the sufficiency of the sureties; and if the Judge refuses allowance of the bond, then the debtor may cause another bond, made to the sheriff in the same terms and under the same conditions, to be executed without further application to the sheriff, and may apply in like manner and upon like notice for the allowance thereof; and the bond, if allowed and indorsed as aforesaid, shall be substituted for and have the like effect in all respects, as the bond so first given to the sheriff as aforesaid would have had upon the allowance thereof, and the like remedies shall be had thereon, and the first given bond shall thereupon become void. R. S. O. 1887, c. 67, s. 17.

Sheriff discharged from responsibility.

19. Upon the allowance being so indorsed, the sheriff shall be discharged from all responsibility respecting the debtor, unless the debtor is again committed to the close custody of the sheriff in due form of law. R. S. O. 1887, c. 67, s. 18.

Conditions of bail-bond
under writ of
ca. sa.

20. Persons who give bail under a writ of capias ad satisfaciendum shall not be bound to remain within the gaol limits, but may depart therefrom at their discretion; and when a person desires to give bail under such a writ, the condition of the bond to the sheriff shall provide that the person arrested shall observe and obey all notices, orders and rules of the Court concerning the debtor or person ordered to pay, or his appearing to be examined viva voce or otherwise, or his returning and being remanded into close custody; and the party or his bail shall not be entitled to claim longer time for so observing or obeying than he would have been entitled to if the party had been on the limits according to the practice before the 4th day of May, 1859, but the Court may grant further time if of opinion that the same may be done without substantial injury to the interests of the party to receive the money. R. S. O. 1887, c. 67, s. 19.

of bail.

21. In lieu of giving bail, a person arrested either on execution or mesne process or any person on his behalf may deposit with the sheriff a sum of money equal to twenty-five per cent. more than the amount for which the debtor is arrested and the said money shall stand as a security in place of and for the purposes of the bond provided for by sections 15 and 20 of this Act, or of the security provided for by the Rules of Court (as the case may be), and the said money shall for the purposes aforesaid be subject to the order of a Judge of the Court from which the process issued, as the case may require, but such deposit shall be repayable to the party depositing the same upon the sheriff being furnished with a certificate of the Judge or officer who allows the same, that the bond provided for by sections 15 or 20 or the bond or other security provided for by the Rules of Court (as the case may be) has been perfected and allowed. 55 V. c. 15, s. 3; 56 V. c. 5, s. 13.

22. In case the sheriff has good reason to apprehend that any surety has after entering into the bond, become insufficient to pay the amount sworn to, the sheriff may again arrest the debtor, and detain him in close custody. R. S. O. 1887, c. 67, s. 20.

If the sureties become insufficient, Sheriff may re-take the debtor.

23. The sureties of the debtor may set up the arrest and detention as a defence to any action brought against them upon the bond entered into by them, and the defence if sustained in proof shall wholly discharge them; and the debtor may again be allowed to go at large, on giving to the sheriff a new bond with sureties as aforesaid. R. S. O. 1887, c. 67, s. 21.

The sureties may plead such arrest.

24. Upon breach of the condition of any such bond, the party at whose suit the debtor is confined may require the sheriff to assign the same to him, and the assignment shall be made in writing, under the seal of the sheriff and attested by at least one witness, and the assignee of the sheriff or the executors or administrators of the assignee may maintain an action in his or their own names upon the bond, which action the sheriff shall have no power to release; but upon executing an assignment as aforesaid, the sheriff shall be thenceforth discharged from all liability on account of the debtor or his safe custody. R. S. O. 1887, c. 67, s. 22.

Bond may be assigned.

25. The sureties of any debtor may surrender him into the custody of the sheriff at the gaol, and the sheriff, his deputy or gaoler shall there receive the debtor into custody, and the sureties may set up the surrender or offer to surrender and the refusal of the sheriff, his deputy or gaoler to receive the debtor into custody at the gaol, as a defence to any action brought on the bond for a breach of the condition happening after the surrender or tender and refusal, and the defence if sustained in proof, shall discharge them; but the debtor may again be allowed to go at large, on giving to the sheriff a new bond, with sureties as aforesaid. R. S. O. 1887, c. 67, s. 23.

Sureties may surrender debtor.

26. The party at whose suit any debtor has been confined may, at any time while the debtor is at large upon bail, apply to the Court or Judge for an order for the examination of the debtor, in the manner provided in The Act respecting the Relief of Indigent Debtors, and in case the debtor neglects or omits to submit himself to be examined pursuant to the order, or refuses to make full answer in respect to the matters touching which he is examined, to the satisfaction of the Court

R. S. O. 1887, c. 67, s. 24.

On answering debtor may be again allowed to go at large.

27. A new order may be granted on the debtor shewing that he has submitted himself to be examined and made full answer as aforesaid, and has thereafter given to the plaintiff or his solicitor ten days' notice of his intention to apply. R. S. O. 1887, c. 67, s. 25.

Plaintiff may have execution against property of debtor on bail.

28. The party at whose suit a debtor has been confined in execution may, wherever the debtor has been admitted to bail, sue out writs against his goods and lands, notwithstanding that the debtor has been charged in execution; and the writ shall not be stayed, but shall be proceeded with until executed, although the debtor be re-committed to close custody. R. S. O. 1887, c. 67, s. 26.

DISCHARGE FROM CUSTODY.

Discharge and its effect.

10. In case the plaintiff has already caused the debtor to be examined viva voce, and in case upon the hearing of the application, further enquiry appears requisite for the ends of justice, the Court or Judge may allow the plaintiff a reasonable time to cause the debtor to be further examined viva voce, and may allow a reasonable time for the debtor to submit to the further examination, before the application is finally disposed of. R. S. O. 1887, c. 68, s. 10.

R. S. O. 1887, c. 68, s. 11.

12. In case it appears that the debt for which the debtor is confined was contracted by any manner of fraud or breach of trust, or under false pretences, or that the debtor wilfully contracted the debt or incurred the liability without having had at the same time a reasonable assurance of being able to pay or discharge the same, or that he is confined by reason of any judgment in an action for breach of promise of marriage, seduction, criminal conversation, libel or slander, the Court or Judge may order the applicant to be re-committed to close custody for a period not exceeding twelve months, and to be then discharged. R. S. O. 1887, c. 68, s. 12.

Re-committal for not more than 12 months, in cases of fraud, seduction, libel, etc.

13. In case a discharge granted under this Act has been unduly or fraudulently obtained by a false allegation of circumstances which, if true, might have entitled the debtor to be discharged by virtue of this Act, the debtor shall, upon the same being made to appear to the satisfaction of the Court or a Judge as aforesaid, be liable to be again taken in execution and remanded to his former custody by order of the Court or a Judge; but no sheriff or gaoler shall be liable as for an escape of the debtor in respect of his enlargement during the time he has been at large by means of his undue discharge as aforesaid. R. S. O. 1887, c. 68, s. 13.

Debtor unduly obtaining discharge may be re-taken in execution.

14. The Court or Judge making any order for examination of a debtor under this Act may issue an order to the sheriff or gaoler having the custody of the debtor, to bring the debtor before him or before some person (to be named in the order),

An Act respecting the Restitution of Stolen Goods.

WHEREAS it often happens that property supposed or alleged to be stolen is found in the possession of a person who is afterwards convicted as a criminal for stealing, taking, obtaining, extorting, embezzling, appropriating, converting, disposing of, or knowingly receiving other chattels, money, valuable securities, or property, and any other charge or other charges is or are pending against such prisoner, and there is no intention of proceeding upon such other charge or charges, because of the person having been convicted as aforesaid, and because no additional punishment would be imposed if additional convictions were obtained; and whereas it is expedient in such case to give to the owners or other persons entitled to the possession of the property a summary remedy for the recovery thereof;

The clerk shall thereupon, by prepaid registered letter, immediately notify (Schedule C) the party against whom such judgment is entered, or his solicitor or agent, where he has appeared by a solicitor or agent, of the fact and of the date and amount of such judgment. 12.—(1) Where the flooding occurs upon the lands of several persons from the construction of the same works, dam or dams, several persons may join as complainants in the same petition where the damage of each does not exceed the sums respectively mentioned in section 1, though in the aggregate they may exceed such sums and although in respect of different parcels of land. In such case the lands damaged shall be separately described in the petition, and the owners of the respective parcels stated and the amount of the claim of each person shall also be stated. The Judge or Magistrate may, when there are several petitions, upon the application of the defendants, consolidate those within his jurisdiction, and may order the hearing thereof in such manner as in his opinion will best facilitate the ends of justice and cause the least trouble and expense.

(3) Each award shall in such case, when filed with the clerk as is hereinbefore provided, form a separate judgment, and the execution shall be adapted to the proceedings, and the form thereof may be settled by the Judge or Magistrate when necessary.

When action may be brought in Division Court.

13. Where the sum claimed does not exceed $20, the action for damages in respect of the injuries in section 1 mentioned may be brought in the Division Court, which shall have jurisdiction to hear, try and dispose of the case, notwithstanding any question of the title to lands may be raised; but the Court shall not, in any proceedings under this section, determine the matter of title to land or to any easement or privilege in connection therewith, nor shall the judgment or decision in any case under this section conclude the parties upon any question except the damages by reason of the flooding aforesaid. 52 V. c. 16, s. 13.

14.—(1) Where, in any proceedings under this Act (except under section 13), the title to any land or the right to any easement or privilege is really in controversy and is not raised for the purpose of ousting the jurisdiction of the Judge or Magistrate, and the question of compensation is, in the opinion of the Judge or Magistrate, involved in such question and cannot, in his opinion, be determined without the determination of the question of title or of such right as aforesaid, further proceedings under this Act shall not be had or taken, but either party may obtain the certificate of the Judge or Magistrate stating that such question of title or right as aforesaid is involved in the determination of the proceedings, and such party shall thereupon be entitled to an order from a Judge of the High Court, removing the proceedings into the latter Court, where they shall be disposed of as the Judge or Court may direct. Removal of proceedings into the High Court.

(2) When the Judge or Magistrate proceeds, notwithstanding the question of title or right as aforesaid is raised, the award or judgment shall not conclude the parties upon such question of title or right, but only in respect of the damages by reason of the flooding aforesaid. 52 V. c. 16, s. 14.

15. No proceeding under this Act shall be rendered void or invalid by any want of form, or by reason of any defect or inaccuracy therein. 52 V. c. 16, s. 15. Defects of form not to invalidate proceedings.

16. All proceedings under this Act in respect of damage or injury to lands flooded shall be commenced within six months next after the time of the supposed damage, or if there be continuation of damage, then within six months next after such damage ceases, and not afterwards. 52 V. c. 16, s. 16. Limitation of actions.

Where Act done under Statute held to be ultra vires , etc., s. 8.

HER MAJESTY, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, enacts as follows:—

When malice and want of probable cause must be alleged and proved.

1.—(1) In case an action is brought against a Police Magistrate or other Justice of the Peace for any act done by him in the execution of his duty as such Justice, with respect to any matter within his jurisdiction as such Justice, or against any other officer or person fulfilling any public duty, for anything by him done in the performance of such public duty, whether such duty arises out of the Common Law or is imposed by any Act either of the Imperial or Dominion Parliament, or of the Legislature of this Province, it shall be expressly alleged in the statement of claim that the act was done maliciously and without reasonable and probable cause; and if at the trial of the action, the plaintiff fails to prove such allegation, he shall be non-suited, or a verdict or judgment shall be given for the defendant.

Application of ss. 1-23 to certain officers.

(2) So far as applicable, sections 1 to 23 of this Act shall apply for the protection of every officer and person mentioned in the preceding subsection, for anything done in the execution of his office as therein expressed. R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 1.

R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 2.

When action lies without allegation of malice, etc.

3. Where a conviction or order has been made by a Justice of the Peace, and a warrant of distress or of commitment has been granted thereon by some other Justice of the Peace, bona fide and without collusion, no action shall be brought against the Justice who granted the warrant by reason of any defect in the conviction or order, or for any want of jurisdiction in the Justice who made the same, but the action (if any is brought) shall be against the Justice who made the conviction or order. R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 3.

If one Justice makes a conviction, etc., and another grants a warrant, action must be against the former.

4. No action as mentioned in this Act shall be brought for anything done under a conviction or order until the conviction or order has been quashed, either upon appeal or upon application to the High Court; nor shall any such action be brought for anything done under any warrant issued by such Justice to procure the appearance of the party, and which has been followed by a conviction or order in the same matter, until the conviction or order has been quashed as aforesaid. R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 4.

No action for anything done under a conviction or order until the same is quashed.

5. In case the last mentioned warrant has not been followed by a conviction or order, or it is a warrant upon an information for an alleged indictable offence, if a summons was issued previously to the warrant, and the summons was served upon such person, either personally or by leaving the same for him with some person at his last or most usual place of abode, and he did not appear according to the exigency of the summons, in such case no such action shall be maintained against the Justice for anything done under the warrant. R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 5.

No action for anything done under a warrant to compel appearance, if a summons previously served and not obeyed.

6. In all cases where a Justice of the Peace refuses to do any act relating to the duties of his office as such Justice, the party requiring the act to be done may, upon an affidavit of the facts, apply to the High Court or to the Judge of the County Court of the county or united counties in which the Justice resides, for an order nisi calling upon the Justice, and also the party to be affected by the act, to shew cause why the act

If a justice refuses to do any act, the High Court or the County Judge may order him to do it, and no action shall then lie against him for doing it.

should not be done; and if, after due service of the order, good cause is not shown against it, the Court or Judge may make the same absolute, with or without or upon payment of costs, as may seem meet, and the Justice, upon being served with the order absolute, shall obey the same, and shall do the act required; and no action or proceeding shall be commenced or prosecuted against the Justice for having obeyed the order and done the act required as aforesaid. R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 7.

Protection to those acting under ultra vires statutes.

8.—(1) No action shall be brought against any Judge, Stipendiary or Police Magistrate, Justice of the Peace, or officer, for any act or thing by him done under the supposed authority of a statute or statutory provision of the Province, or of the Dominion of Canada, which statute or statutory provision was beyond the legislative jurisdiction of the Legislature of the Province or of the Parliament of Canada, as the case may be, provided the action would not lie against him, if the statute or statutory provision had been within the legislative jurisdiction of the Parliament or Legislature, which assumed to enact the same.

Cases wherein above does not prevent action.

(2) Where, notwithstanding the above subsection, an action is sustainable against a Judge, Stipendiary or Police Magistrate, Justice of the Peace, or officer, for any act or thing by him done under the authority of a statute, or statutory provision, of the description in the said subsection mentioned, the action shall only be sustainable subject to the like provisions as the action would be subject to if the statute or statutory provision were valid; and the like damages, and no more, shall be recoverable in such action as under the like circumstances could have been recovered if the statute or statutory provision had been valid. R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 8.

Defects in form of informations or warrants not to prevent Justices from claiming protection hereunder.

9. No defect in form, in an information or warrant taken before or signed by a Justice of the Peace, shall prevent the Justice from claiming the benefit and protection of this Act if the Court before which, or the Judge before whom, the action is tried shall be of opinion that the Justice acted in good faith, and that the informant or complainant intended, by the facts stated to the Justice, to charge the commission of an offence which, if the same had been set forth in proper form in the information or warrant, would have been one within the jurisdiction of the Justice; and in such case the informant or complainant shall be liable to prosecution, as if the information had charged in proper form the commission of the offence so intended to be charged. R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 9.

10. No person who has in good faith as aforesaid intended to charge another person, who has been arrested by the direction of the person so charging the said offence, under a warrant signed by a Justice of the Peace, with the commission of any offence, shall be liable to be sued for a trespass, in consequence only of the information sworn before a Justice of the Peace, or the warrant signed by him not containing a proper description of the offence. R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 11.

Actions when information does not contain a proper description of the offence.

11. Where an order is made by the High Court quashing a summary conviction the Court may, if it thinks fit so to do, provide that no action for a trespass shall be brought against the Justice of the Peace who made the conviction. R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 10.

Condition on quashing convictions.

12. In case an action is brought, where by this Act it is enacted that no action shall be brought under the particular circumstances, a Judge of the Court in which the action is pending shall, upon application of the defendant, and upon an affidavit of the facts, set aside the proceedings in the action, with or without costs, as to him seems meet. R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 12.

If any action is brought contrary to this Act, Judge may set aside the proceedings.

13. No action shall be brought against a Justice of the Peace for anything done by him in the execution of his office unless the same is commenced within six months next after the act complained of was committed. R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 13.

16. No action shall be brought in any County or Division Court against a Justice of the Peace for anything done by him in the execution of his office if the Justice objects thereto; and if, within six days after being served with a notice of the action, the Justice, or his solicitor or agent, gives a written notice to the plaintiff in the intended action that he objects to being sued in such County or Division Court for such cause of action, no proceedings shall afterwards be had in such County or Division Court in the action, but it shall not be necessary to give another notice of action in order to sue the Justice in any other Court. R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 16.

17. In every such case, after notice of action has been given as aforesaid, and before an action has been commenced, the Justice to whom the notice has been given may tender to the person complaining, or to his solicitor or agent, such sum of money as he thinks fit as amends for the injury complained of in the notice; and after the action has been commenced, and at any time before issue joined therein, the defendant, if he has not made a tender, or in addition to the tender, may pay into Court such sum of money as he thinks fit, and the tender and payment of money into Court, or either of them, may afterwards be given in evidence by the defendant at the trial under such defence of not guilty. R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 18.

If plaintiff fails to prove certain particulars, he shall be non-suited or verdict given for the defendant.

19. If at the trial of the action the plaintiff does not prove,

1. That the action was brought within the time hereinbefore limited in that behalf; and

2. That notice as aforesaid was given one month before the action was commenced; and

3. The cause of action stated in the notice; and

R. S. O. 1887, c. 73, s. 21.

22. If in any case it is alleged in the statement of claim, or in the summons and particulars if the plaintiff sues in the Division Court, that the act complained of was done maliciously and without reasonable or probable cause, the plaintiff, if he recovers a verdict for any damages, or if the defendant allows judgment to pass against him by default, shall be entitled to his costs to be taxed as between solicitor and client; and in every action against a Justice of the Peace for anything done by him in the execution of his office, the defendant, if he obtains judgment, shall be entitled to his full costs in that behalf, to be taxed as between solicitor and client. 22. If any person, protector of a settlement, is a lunatic, idiot, or of unsound mind, and whether he has been found such by inquisition or not, then the High Court shall be the protector of such settlement, in lieu of the person who is such lunatic or idiot, or of unsound mind, as aforesaid; or, if any person, protector of a settlement, is convicted of treason or felony, or, if a person not being the owner of a prior estate under a settlement, is protector of such settlement, and is an infant; or, if it is uncertain whether such last mentioned person is living or dead—then the High Court shall be the protector of such settlement, in lieu of the person convicted as aforesaid, or of the person who is an infant, or whose existence cannot be ascertained as aforesaid ; or, if any settlor entailing lands declares, in the settlement by which the lands are entailed, that the person who, as owner of a prior estate under such settlement, would be entitled to be protector of the settlement, shall not be the protector, and does not appoint any person to be protector in his stead, then the said High Court shall, as to the lands in which the prior estate is subsisting, be the protector of the settlement during the continuance of such estate ; or, if in any other case, there is subsisting under a settlement an estate prior to an estate tail under the same settlement, and such prior estate is sufficient to qualify the owner thereof to be protector of the settlement, and there happens at any time to be no protector of the settlement as to the lands in which the prior estate is subsisting, the said High Court shall, while there is no such protector, and the prior estate is subsisting, be the protector of the settlement as to such lands. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 22.

23. If at the time when any person, actual tenant in tail of lands under a settlement, but not entitled to the remainder or reversion in fee immediately expectant on the determination of his estate tail, is desirous of making under this Act a disposition of the lands entailed, there is a protector of such settlement, then the consent of such protector shall be requisite to enable such actual tenant in tail to dispose of the lands entailed to the full extent to which he is hereinbefore authorized to dispose of the same ; but such actual tenant in tail may, without such consent, make a disposition under this Act of the lands entailed, which shall be good against all persons who, by force of any estate tail vested in or which might be claimed by, or which but for some previous act or default would have been vested in or might have been claimed by, the person making the disposition at the time of his making the same, may claim the lands entailed. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 23.

Where there is a protector, his consent requisite to enable an actual tenant in tail to create a larger estate than a base fee.

24. Where an estate tail has been converted into a base fee in such case, so long as there is a protector of the settlement by which the estate tail was created, the consent of such protector shall be requisite to enable the person who would have been tenant of the estate tail if the same had not been barred, to exercise, as to the lands in respect of which there is such protector, the power of disposition hereinbefore contained. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 24.

Where a base fee and a protector, his consent requisite to the exercising of a power of disposition.

25. Any device, shift, or contrivance by which it is attempted to control the protector of a settlement in giving his consent, or to prevent him in any way from using his absolute discretion in regard to his consent, and also any agreement entered into by the protector of a settlement to withhold his consent, shall be void ; and the protector of a settlement shall not be deemed to be a trustee in respect of his power of consent ; and no Court shall control or interfere to restrain the exercise of his power of consent, or treat his giving consent as a breach of trust. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 25.

Certain rules of equity not to apply between the protector and a tenant in tail.

26. The rules of equity in relation to dealings and transactions between the donee of a power and any object of the power in whose favour the same may be exercised, shall not be held to apply to dealings and transactions between the protector of a settlement and a tenant in tail under the same settlement, upon the occasion of the protector giving his consent to a disposition by a tenant in tail under this Act. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 26.

A voidable estate by a tenant in tail in favour of a purchaser confirmed by a subsequent disposition of such tenant in tail under this Act, but not against a purchaser for value without notice.

27. Where a tenant in tail of lands under a settlement has created in such lands, or any of them, a voidable estate in favour of a purchaser for valuable consideration and afterwards, by any assurance other than a lease not requiring enrolment, makes a disposition, under this Act, of the lands in which such voidable estate has been created, or any of them, such disposition, whatever its object may be, and whatever may be the extent of the estate intended to be thereby created, shall, if made by the tenant in tail with the consent of the protector (if any) of the settlement, or by the tenant in tail alone, if there be no such protector, have the effect of confirming such voidable estate in the lands thereby disposed of to its full extent as against all persons except those whose rights are saved by this Act; but if, at the time of making the disposition, there is a protector of the settlement, and such protector does not consent to the disposition, and the tenant in tail is not without such consent capable under this Act of confirming the voidable estate to its full extent, then such disposition shall have the effect of confirming such voidable estate so far as such tenant in tail would then be capable under this Act of confirming the same without such consent; but if such disposition is made to a purchaser for valuable consideration, not having express notice of the voidable estate, then and in such case the voidable estate shall not be confirmed as against such purchaser and the person claiming under him. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 27.

Base fees when united with the immediate reversions enlarged instead of being merged.

28. If a base fee in any lands, and the remainder or reversion in fee in the same lands, were on the 18th day of May, 1846, or at any time since have been, or after this Act takes effect are united in the same person, and there is no intermediate estate between the base fee and the remainder or reversion, then the base fee shall not merge, but shall be ipso facto enlarged into as large an estate as the tenant in tail, with the consent of the protector, if any, might have created by any disposition under this Act, if such remainder or reversion had been vested in any other person. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 28.

Tenant in tail may make a disposition by deed but not by will or contract.
44 V. c. 5.

29. Every disposition of lands under this Act by a tenant in tail thereof shall be effected by some one of the assurances (not being a will) by which such tenant in tail could, before The Ontario Judicature Act, 1881, have made the disposition if his estate were an estate at law in fee simple absolute; but no disposition by a tenant in tail shall be of any force, under this Act, unless made or evidenced by deed; and no disposition by a tenant in tail resting only in contract, either express or implied, or otherwise, and whether supported by a valuable or meritorious consideration or not, shall be of any force under this Act, notwithstanding such disposition is made or evidenced by deed. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 29.

30. No assurance by which any disposition of lands is effected under this Act by a tenant in tail thereof (except a lease for any term not exceeding twenty-one years, to commence from the date of such lease, or from any time not exceeding twelve months from the date of such lease, where a rent is thereby reserved, which, at the time of granting such a lease is rack-rent, or not less than five-sixth parts of a rack-rent) shall have any operation under this Act unless it is registered in the registry office of the registry division wherein the lands referred to lie, within six months after the execution thereof. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 30.

Assurances by a tenant in tail, other than certain leases to be inoperative unless registered within six months.

31. The consent of a protector of a settlement to the disposition under this Act of a tenant in tail, shall be given either by the same assurance by which the disposition is effected, or by a deed distinct from the assurance, and executed either on or at any time before the day on which the assurance is made, otherwise the consent shall be void. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 31.

Consent of protector to be at same time or previous to assurance.

32. If the protector of a settlement gives his consent to the disposition of a tenant in tail by a distinct deed, it shall be considered that such protector has given an absolute and unqualified consent, unless in such deed he refers to the particular assurance by which the disposition is effected, and confines his consent to the disposition thereby made. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 32.

If by distinct deed, to be deemed unqualified unless otherwise expressed.

33. The protector of a settlement, who, under this Act has given his consent to the disposition of a tenant in tail, shall not revoke such consent. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 33.

Protector not to revoke his consent.

34. A married woman, being, either alone or jointly with her husband, protector of a settlement, may, under this Act in the same manner as if she were a feme sole, give her consent to the disposition of a tenant in tail. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 34.

A married woman protector.

35. The consent of the protector of a settlement to the disposition of a tenant in tail shall, if given by a deed distinct from the assurance by which the disposition is effected by the tenant in tail, be void, unless such deed is registered in the registry office of the registry division wherein the lands referred to lie, either at or before the time of the registry of the assurance. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 35.

Consent by distinct deed void, unless registered with or before assurance.

Equitable jurisdiction of the Courts excluded from giving any effect to dispositions in tail, etc.

36 V. c. 8.

36. In cases of disposition of lands under this Act by tenants in tail thereof, and also in cases of consents by protectors of settlements to dispositions of lands under this Act by tenants in tail thereof, the equitable jurisdiction of the Courts shall be altogether excluded, either on the behalf of a person claiming for a valuable or meritorious consideration, or not, in regard to the specific performance of contracts and the supplying of defects in the execution either of the powers of disposition given by this Act to tenants in tail, or of the powers of consent given by this Act to protectors of settlements, and the supplying under any circumstances of the want of execution of such powers of disposition and consent respectively, and in regard to giving effect in any other manner to any act or deed by a tenant in tail or protector of a settlement, which in a Court of Law, before the passing of the The Administration of Justice Act of 1873, would not, but for the provisions conferring equitable jurisdiction on Courts of Law enacted by the said Act, and re-enacted in the Revised Statutes, 1877, be an effectual disposition or consent within the meaning of this Act; and no disposition of lands under this Act by a tenant in tail thereof in Equity, and no consent by a protector of a settlement to a disposition of land under this Act by a tenant in tail thereof in Equity, shall be of any force, unless such disposition or consent would have been, in case of an estate tail at Law, before the said Administration of Justice Act, an effectual disposition or consent within the meaning of this Act in a Court of Law, but for the provisions aforesaid. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 36.

When the High Court may consent to a disposition by a tenant in tail, and make such orders as are thought necessary.

37. In every case in which the High Court is the protector of a settlement, such Court, while protector of such settlement, shall, on motion or petition in a summary way by a tenant in tail under such settlement, have full power to consent to a disposition, under this Act, by such tenant in tail; and the disposition to be made by such tenant in tail upon such motion or petition as aforesaid, shall be such as may be approved of by the said Court, and the said Court may make such orders in the matter as may be thought necessary; and if such Court, in lieu of any such person as aforesaid, is the protector of a settlement, and there is any other person protector of the same settlement jointly with such person as aforesaid, then and in every such case the disposition by the tenant in tail, though approved of as aforesaid, shall not be valid, unless such other person, being protector as aforesaid, consents thereto in the manner in which the consent of the protector is by this Act required to be given. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 37.

Order of the High Court to be evidence of consent.

38. In every case in which the High Court is the protector of a settlement, no document or instrument, as evidence of the consent of such protector to the disposition of a tenant in tail under such settlement, shall be requisite beyond the order in obedience to which the disposition has been made. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 38.

39. Lands to be sold, whether freehold or leasehold, or of any other tenure, where the money arising from the sale thereof is subject to be invested in the purchase of lands to be settled, so that any person, if the lands were purchased, would have an estate tail therein, and also money subject to be invested in the purchase of lands to be settled, so that any person, if the lands were purchased, would have an estate tail therein, shall, for all the purposes of this Act, be treated as the lands to be purchased, and be considered subject to the same estates as the lands to be purchased would, if purchased, have been actually subject to; and all the previous sections in this Act, so far as circumstances will admit, shall, in the case of the lands to be sold as aforesaid being either freehold or leasehold, or of any other tenure, apply to such lands in the same manner as if the lands to be purchased with the money to arise from the sale thereof were directed to be freehold, and were actually purchased and settled; and shall, in case of money subject to be invested in the purchase of lands to be so settled as aforesaid, apply to such money in the same manner as if such money were directed to be laid out in the purchase of freehold lands, and such lands were actually purchased and settled; except that in every case, where under this section a disposition is to be made of leasehold lands for years absolute or determinable, so circumstanced as aforesaid, or of money so circumstanced as aforesaid, such leasehold lands or money shall, as to the person in whose favour or for whose benefit the disposition is made, be treated as personal estate, and the assurance by which the disposition of such leasehold lands or money is effected shall be an assignment by deed, which shall have no operation under this Act unless registered in the registry office of the registry division in which the lands therein referred to lie, within six months after the execution thereof. R. S. O. 1887, c. 103, s. 39.

R. S. O. 1887, c. 104, s. 44.

45. The reference may be embodied in the order directing a sale, and the order may direct payment of such liens or charges out of the proceeds of the sale of the lands. Reference may be embodied in order for sale. R. S. O. 1887, c. 104, s. 45.

R. S. O. 1887, c. 104, s. 48.

Sale may include estate of tenant in dower, by the curtesy or for life.

49.—(1) In any action or proceeding for partition or administration, or in any action or proceeding in which a partition or sale of land in lieu of partition is ordered, and in which the estate of any tenant in dower or tenant by the curtesy or for life is established, if the person entitled to the estate is a party, the Court or Judge shall determine whether the estate ought to be exempted from the sale, or whether the same should be sold; and in making such determination regard shall be had to the interests of all the parties.

(2) If a sale is ordered including such estate, all the estate and interest of every such tenant shall pass thereby; and no conveyance or release to the purchaser shall be required from such tenant; and the purchaser, his heirs and assigns, shall hold the premises freed and discharged from all claims by virtue of the estate or interest of any such tenant, whether the same be to any undivided share, or to the whole or any part of the premises sold.

(3) In such case the Court or Judge may direct the payment of such sum in gross out of the purchase money to the person entitled to dower or estate by the curtesy or for life, as may be deemed, upon the principles applicable to life annuities, a reasonable satisfaction for such estate; or may direct the payment, to the person entitled to dower or estate by the curtesy or for life, of an annual sum, or of the income or interest to be derived from the purchase money or any part thereof, as may seem just, and for that purpose may make such order for the investment or other disposition of the purchase money or any part thereof as may be necessary. R. S. O. 1887, c. 104, s. 50.

51. The real representative shall give notice of any sale to be made by him for such time and in such manner as he may see fit; and the terms of such sale shall be set out in the notice and made known at the time of the sale; and after the completion thereof, he shall report the same in writing to the Court, with a description of the different parcels of land sold to each purchaser, and the prices at which the same have been sold; and, at the expiration of fifteen days next after the said sale and the due filing of the report, the sales may be approved and confirmed by the Court or a Judge thereof; and an order shall be made directing the real representative to execute deeds pursuant to such sales; and the deeds so executed shall be recorded in the registry office of the registry division in which the lands lie in the same manner as other deeds, and shall be a bar against all known parties interested in the premises, and against all unknown parties where notice was published as aforesaid, and against all persons claiming under or through them, and also against all incumbrancers where the notice herebefore mentioned has been given to them, in manner and form aforesaid. 24. The next six sections of this Act, numbered from 25 to 30 inclusive, shall not have operation retrospectively to a period of time anterior to the sixth day of March, 1834, so as, by force of any of their provisions, to render any title valid, which in regard to any particular estate had, prior to that day, been adjudged, or has been or may be in any suit which was depending on that day, adjudged invalid on account of any defect, imperfection, matter or thing which is by such sections altered, supplied or remedied; but in every such case the law in regard to any such defect, imperfection, matter or thing, shall, as applied to such title, be deemed and taken to The next seven sections not to operate retrospectively in certain cases.

25. 28. Where the person from whom the descent of any land is to be traced has had any relation who, having been attainted, died before such descent took place, then such attainder shall not prevent any person from inheriting such land who would have been capable of inheriting the same by tracing his descent through such relation if he had not been attainted, unless such land escheated in consequence of such attainder before the first day of July, 1834. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 17.

Descents between the 1st January, 1852, and 1st July, 1886

37. The twenty seven sections numbered from 41 to 67, both included, shall apply retrospectively to the first day of January, 1852 inclusive, and also prospectively, as the case may be, and shall be construed as if the same had been passed on the said first day of January, 1852, but sections 38 to 55 inclusive shall not apply to estates of persons dying on or after the 1st day of July, 1886; and sections 56 to 67 inclusive shall, as to the estates of such last mentioned persons, apply only subject to the provisions of sections 1 to 21 inclusive. 60 V. c. 15, s. 3.

Interpretation as to sections 41 to 67.

38. In the said twenty-seven sections of this Act numbered from 41 to 67, both inclusive—

“Real estate.”

1. “Real estate” shall be construed to include every estate, interest and right, legal and equitable, held in fee simple or for the life of another (except as in section 59 is excepted) in lands, tenements and hereditaments in Ontario, but not such as are determined or extinguished by the death of the intestate seised or possessed thereof, or so otherwise entitled thereto, nor to leases for years; and

2. "Inheritance," as therein used, shall be understood to mean real estate as herein defined, descended or succeeded to, according to the provisions of the said twenty-seven sections. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 28.

39. Where, in the said sections, numbered from 41 to 67 both included, any person is described as living, it shall be understood that he was living at the time of the death of the intestate from whom the descent or succession came, and where any person is described as having died, it shall be understood that he died before such intestate. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 29.

40. Where in any of the said sections the expressions "where the estate came to the intestate on the part of the father" or "mother," as the case may be, are used, the same shall be construed to include every case where the inheritance came to the intestate by devise, gift or descent from the parent referred to, or from any relative of the blood of such parent. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 30.

41. Where any person dies seised in fee simple or for the life of another of any real estate in Ontario, without having lawfully devised the same, such real estate shall descend or pass by way of succession in manner following, that is to say:—

Firstly. To the lineal descendants of the intestate, and those claiming by or under them, per stirpes;

Secondly. To his father;

Thirdly. To his mother; and Fourthly. To his collateral relatives subject in all cases to the rules and regulations hereinafter prescribed. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 31.

42. If the intestate leaves several descendants in the direct line of lineal descent, and all of equal degree of consanguinity to such intestate, the inheritance shall descend to such persons in equal parts, however remote from the intestate the common degree of consanguinity may be. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 32.

43. If one or more of the children of such intestate are living and one or more are dead, the inheritance shall descend to the children who are living, and to the descendants of such children as have died; so that each child who is living shall inherit such share as would have descended to him if all the children of the intestate, who have died leaving issue, had been living; and so that the descendants of each child who is dead shall inherit in equal shares the share which their parent would have received if living. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 33.

Same rule as to other descendants in unequal degrees of consanguinity.

44. The rule of descent prescribed in the last preceding section shall apply in every case where the descendants of the intestate, entitled to share in the inheritance, are of unequal degrees of consanguinity to the intestate, so that those who are in the nearest degree of consanguinity shall take the shares which would have descended to them, had all the descendants in the same degree of consanguinity who have died leaving issue, been living, and so that the issue of the descendants who have died, shall respectively take the shares which their parents, if living, would have received. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 34.

If the intestate leaves no descendant, right of father, mother, etc.

45. In case the intestate dies without lawful descendants and leaving a father, then the inheritance shall go to such father, unless the inheritance came to the intestate on the part of his mother, and such mother is living; and if such mother is dead, the inheritance descending on her part shall go to the father for life, and the reversion to the brothers and sisters of the intestate and their descendants, according to the law of inheritance by collateral relatives hereinafter provided; and if there are no such brothers or sisters, or their descendants living such inheritance shall descend to the father. R. S. O. 1887 c. 108, s. 35.

If there is no father entitled to inherit.

46. If the intestate dies without descendants and leaving no father, or leaving a father not entitled to take the inheritance under the last preceding section, and leaving a mother and brothers or sisters, or the descendants of brothers or sisters, then the inheritance shall descend to the mother during her life, and the reversion to such brothers or sisters of the intestate, as are living, and the descendants of such as are dead, according to the same law of inheritance hereinafter provided; and if the intestate in such case leaves no brother or sister, nor any descendant of any brother or sister, the inheritance shall descend to the mother. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 36.

If there is neither father nor mother.

47. If there is no father or mother capable of inheriting the estate, it shall descend in the cases hereinafter specified to the collateral relatives of the intestate; and if there are several of such relatives all of equal degree of consanguinity to the intestate, the inheritance shall descend to them in equal parts, however remote from the intestate the common degree of consanguinity may be. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 37.

Succession of brothers and sisters and their descendants.

48. If all the brothers and sisters of the intestate are living, the inheritance shall descend to such brothers and sisters; and if any one or more of them are living and any one or more are dead, then to the brothers and sisters and every of them who are living, and to the descendants of such brothers and sisters as have died, so that each brother or sister who is living shall inherit such share as would have descended to him or her, if all the brothers or sisters of the intestate who have died leaving issue had been living, and so that such descendants shall inherit in equal shares the share which their parent, if living, would have received. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 38.

49. The same law of inheritance prescribed in the last section shall prevail as to the other direct lineal descendants of every brother and sister of the intestate, to the remotest degree, wherever such descendants are of unequal degree. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 39.

As to such descendants in unequal degrees.

50. If there is no heir entitled to take under any of the preceding thirteen sections, the inheritance if the same came to the intestate on the part of his father, shall descend :

If there be no heir under the preceding 13 sections.

Firstly. To the brothers and sisters of the father of the intestate in equal shares, if all are living;

Secondly. If one or more are living, and one or more have died leaving issue, then to such brothers and sisters as are living, and to the descendants of such of the said brothers and sisters as have died—in equal shares;

Thirdly. If all such brothers and sisters have died, then to their descendants; and in all such cases the inheritance shall descend in the same manner as if all such brothers and sisters had been the brothers and sisters of the intestate. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 40.

51. If there be no brothers or sisters, or any of them, of the father of the intestate, and no descendants of such brothers or sisters, then the inheritance shall descend to the brothers and sisters of the mother of the intestate, and to the descendants of such of the said brothers and sisters as have died, or if all have died, then to their descendants, in the same manner as if all such brothers and sisters had been the brothers and sisters of the father. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 41.

Further provision.

52. In all cases not provided for by the next preceding fifteen sections, where the inheritance came to the intestate on the part of his mother, the same, instead of descending to the brothers and sisters of the intestate's father, and their descendants, as prescribed in section 50, shall descend to the brothers and sisters of the intestate's mother, and to their descendants, as directed in the last preceding section; and if there are no such brothers and sisters or descendants of them, then the inheritance shall descend to the brothers and sisters, and their descendants, of the intestate's father, as before prescribed. R. S. O. 1887, c. 108, s. 42.

(2) Where the value or the land in question is proved by the oath of some competent person or persons to be no more than $3,000, the Judge may dispense with the publication of the advertisements aforesaid, or any of them, and in lieu thereof may direct a printed or type-written notice of the application, or order or decision of the judge thereon, to be posted in a conspicuous place or conspicuous places on the premises in question, and in such other place or places (if any), and for such period or periods as he may think fit; and in such cases the certificate or conveyance shall not be signed or executed until such period or periods shall have expired. 26. The Judge may give one certificate of title, comprising all the land mentioned in the petition, or may give separate certificates as to the title of separate parts of the land. R. S. O. 1887, c. 113, s. 25.

R. S. O. 1887, c. 113, s. 29. Effect of certificate of title.

Conveyance
by the Court
in case of sale.

Trusts.

1. There shall not be entered on the register or be receivable by the Master of Titles, any notice of any trust, express, implied, or constructive. Describing the owner of any freehold or leasehold land or of any charge as a trustee, whether the beneficiary or object of the trust is mentioned or not, shall not be deemed a notice of a trust within the meaning of this provision, nor shall such description impose upon any person dealing with such owner, the duty of making any enquiry as to the power of the owner in respect of the land or charge or the money secured by the charge, or otherwise; but (subject to the registration of any caution or inhibition) such owner may deal with the land or charge as if such description had not been inserted; R. S. O. 1887, c. 116, s. 85. (1).

Undivided

2. No person shall be registered as owner of any undivided share in any land or charge apart from the other share or shares. The share of each owner may be stated, and where the extent of his interest appears in the register, or by the statement of his co-owners he may transfer or charge his share.

3. In case the number of persons who may be registered as the owners of the same land or charge shall be limited by a Rule, a number of persons exceeding the number prescribed shall not be registered as owners of such land or charge; and if the number of persons shewing title exceeds the prescribed number, such of them not exceeding the prescribed number as may be agreed upon, or as the Master of Titles in case of difference decides, shall be registered as owners. 4. Upon the occasion of the registry of two or more persons as owners of the same land or of the same charge, an entry may, with their consent be made on the register, to the effect that when the number of such owners is reduced below a certain specified number, no registered disposition of such land or charge shall be made, except under the order of the Court;

5. In such a case the words "No survivorship" in the entry shall be construed to mean that in case any one of the owners should die, no registered disposition of the land or charge shall be made except under order of the Court ;

6. Registered land shall be described in such manner as the Master of Titles thinks best calculated to secure accuracy, but such description shall not be conclusive as to the boundaries or extent of the registered land ;

ASSURANCE FUND.

Assurance fund.

130.—(1) An Assurance Fund shall be formed for the indemnity of any persons who may happen to be deprived of land or some estate or interest therein by reason of the land being brought under the provisions of this Act, or by the registration of some other person as owner of the land or of such estate or interest therein, or by reason of any misdescription, omission or other error in a certificate of title or in any entry in the register. R. S. O. 1887, c. 116, s. 107 (1).

(2) In order to constitute such fund, there shall be paid on the first certificate of title granted under this Act in respect of any land with an absolute or qualified title in addition to all other fees, a sum equal to one-fourth of one per cent. of the value of the land and with a possessory title one-eighth of one per cent., but where such sum does not amount to $1, the amount payable shall be $1. R. S. O. 1887, c. 116, s. 107 (2); 52 V. c. 20, s. 9; 53 V. c. 32, s. 2.

(3) (Subject to any rules to be made under the authority of this Act), money payable under the preceding subsection shall be paid into Court, with the privity of the Accountant of the Supreme Court, and shall be placed to the credit of an account to be intituled "Assurance Fund under the Land Titles Act," and shall be invested from time to time under the direction of the Court, and the interest or income derived therefrom shall be credited to the same account.

(4) Where the amount to be paid into the assurance fund is not more than $10, no fee shall be payable for a direction to the bank to receive the same, and where such amount is payable in respect of a proceeding before a Local Master of Titles, the person desiring to pay the same may, at his own risk, transmit the amount by a money order, payable to "The Accountant of the Supreme Court at Toronto," in a registered letter addressed to the said Accountant, together with a requisition in the prescribed form.

(5) (Subject as aforesaid) the value of the land shall be ascertained for the purpose aforesaid by the oath or affirmation of the applicant, unless the Master of Titles dispenses therewith.

(6) (Subject as aforesaid) in case the oath or affirmation of the applicant is dispensed with, or in case the Master of Titles is not satisfied as to the correctness of the value stated by the oath or affirmation of the applicant or any other person, he may require the affidavit or certificate in that behalf of a sworn valuator: and such affidavit or certificate shall be conclusive.

(7) If the Master thinks fit to take from any applicant for a certificate of ownership security to indemnify the Assurance Fund against loss, he may do so, by taking a bond or covenant to Her Majesty, either with or without sureties or other security as he considers expedient. R. S. O. 1887, c. 116, s. 107 (3-7).

131. Where a Master in order to determine the amount to be paid into Court on account of the Assurance Fund in respect of any land, deems it necessary to require the valuation of a sworn valuator, the expense of obtaining such valuation as allowed by the Master shall be paid to the Master by the registered owner, and such payment shall be made before any dealing with the land is registered. 56 V. c. 22, s. 13. Expenses of valuation.

132.—(1) Any person wrongfully deprived of land, or of some estate or interest therein, by reason of the land being brought under this Act, or by reason of some other person being registered as owner, or by reason of any misdescription or other error in any certificate of title, or in any entry in the register, shall be entitled to recover what is just, by way of compensation or damages, from the person on whose application the erroneous registration was made, or who acquired the title through the fraud or error. Remedy of person wrongfully deprived of land.

(2) But this is not to be construed to render liable any purchaser or mortgagee bona fide for valuable consideration by reason of the vendor or mortgagor having been registered as owner through fraud or error, or having derived from or through a person registered as owner through fraud or error, whether the fraud or error consists in a wrong description of the property or otherwise howsoever.

(3) In case the person so wrongfully deprived is unable by such means or otherwise to recover just compensation for his loss, he shall be entitled to have the same paid out of the Assurance Fund, so far as the fund may be sufficient for that purpose having reference to other charges thereon, provided that the application is made within six years from the time of having been so deprived; or, in the case of a person under the disability of infancy, lunacy or unsound mind, within six years from the date at which the disability ceased.

(4) The liability of the fund for compensation and the amount of compensation shall (subject to appeal as in other cases) be determined by the Master of Titles, unless the Court or Master of Titles on application directs some other way of ascertaining and determining the same. The costs of the proceedings shall be in the discretion of the Master of Titles or the Court, as the case may be.

(5) Where any sum has been paid out of the Assurance Fund on account of a person on whose application the erroneous registration was made, or who acquired the title through the fraud or error, the same may afterwards for the benefit of the fund be recovered from such person or his estate, by action in the name of the Master of Titles; and the Master's certificate of the payment out of the Assurance Fund shall be sufficient proof of the debt. R. S. O. 1887, c. 116, s. 108.

Assurance Fund.

133.—(1) Where any person makes a claim upon the Assurance Fund for compensation in respect of land which has been or shall be patented as mining land or in respect of any land the chief value of which consists in the ores, mines or minerals therein and it appears that such person is entitled to recover in respect of such land or of some interest therein, in determining the amount of compensation to be paid such person the entire value of land shall not be taken at a greater sum than eight hundred times the amount of the fees paid into the Assurance Fund in respect of the said land, either in the first instance or under the provision hereinafter contained.

(2) Where such fees or some part thereof were paid into the said fund in respect of other land in addition to that for which a claim is made as aforesaid without it appearing what amount was paid in respect of the particular piece of land with reference to which the claim is made as aforesaid, the fees so paid, or the portion thereof as to which the fact may not appear to be otherwise, shall be deemed to have been paid pro rata in accordance with the acreage or other superficial contents of the whole parcel or of the various parcels in respect of which the said fees were paid. 60 V. c. 21, s. 3.

134.—(1) Where any person taking a transfer or charge of any land coming within the provisions of the next preceding section is of opinion that a value to be determined under such section would not furnish a fair basis for compensation in case of loss he may with the privy of the Master of Titles of the county, city, town or district pay into Court to the credit of the Assurance Fund such further sum as shall with the amount previously paid into the Assurance Fund in respect of such land make up one-fourth of one per cent. of the value of the said land at the time of making the said payment, the said value to be determined in the manner provided by sections 130 and 131 of this Act. Additional payments into fund by transferor, etc.

(2) No such additional payment shall be made except by special leave of the said Master, unless the same is paid within three months of the registration of the transfer or charge under which such person claims.

(3) No such payment shall affect the valuation of the land where the error which gives the right to compensation was committed prior to such payment being made. 60 V. c. 21, s. 4.

135. Wherever any additional payment is made under the next preceding section, the Master shall enter a memorandum of the particulars thereof in the margin of the entry of ownership, and shall in such entry show the total amount which has been paid into the said fund in respect of such land by means of such additional payment and any former payment or payments. 60 V. c. 21, s. 5. Entry to be made of additional payment.

Application to withdraw registered land.

(2) In case the owner proves before the Master of Titles that all persons interested in the land proposed to be withdrawn, consent to its withdrawal, and in case he satisfies the Master that special circumstances exist which render the withdrawal of such land or a portion thereof expedient, the Master may issue his certificate describing the land or such portion thereof as the consent covers and as the Master deems proper, in such a manner that the said certificate can be properly registered in the registry office for the registry division in which the land is situate, and upon the certificate being issued the said Act shall cease to apply to the land described therein, and the land shall thereafter be subject to the ordinary laws relating to real estate and to the registry laws. Applications Unduly Delayed.

16. When any application has remained without being proceeded with for a period of three months, notice may be given to the applicant or his solicitor that the application will be treated as withdrawn unless duly proceeded with within a time to be named in the notice, and at the expiration of that time, if not duly proceeded with, the application may be treated as withdrawn accordingly. (3) Where the Master is not satisfied that the person desiring to register a caution has an interest in the land or charge, he may before entering the caution require satisfactory evidence of such interest to be produced.

(4) Where it appears that the person desiring to register a caution has not such an interest in the land or charge as entitles him to file the caution, the Master shall refuse to receive the same, but this shall not be construed to prevent a cestui que trust from filing a caution for the purpose of requiring notice of the dealings of his trustee with the land.

The Register.

Rule 56, made under Imp.
Act 38 & 39
V. c. 87.

56.—(1) The register shall be made and kept in such mode that in every case where there is a registered owner of any parcel of land, such land and any transactions relating thereto authorized to be entered on the register shall be entered on a page or succession of pages, so as to form a separate record in the register, hereinafter called the Register of the Parcel.

(2) Entries of ownership in the register need not be under seal.

(3) Unless the Master of Titles shall otherwise direct, each parcel of land separately entered on the register shall be distinguished by a separate number, and where the land originally registered is dealt with in separate parcels, each new separate parcel shall also refer to the number of the original parcel.

(4) Where a part only of the registered land is comprised in the transfer a note shall be made in the register of the land retained, shewing the part disposed of.

(5) The Master shall note upon the register of the parcel of the transferor the number of the parcel of the transferee's title, and upon that of the transferee the number of the parcel of the transferor, so that reference can be readily made from one to the other as occasion may require.

(6) Where the pages originally allowed for entries in respect of a parcel of land are filled up, the entries shall be continued on another page, or succession of pages, in the same or a subsequent volume of the register, reference being made at the foot of the last page to the place of continuation, and such page, or succession of pages, shall be deemed a continuation of the register of the parcel.

(7) Where, in order to preserve simplicity in the entries of transactions respecting the land included in any parcel, the Master deems it advisable to enter the whole or any part of a parcel of land as a new parcel either alone or with other land, he may do so and may call in the outstanding land certificate for the purpose of making thereon all proper entries or memoranda. The Master upon making such entry shall note in the register of the old parcel the fact of such entry, shewing in the said note the land so entered, and thereafter the page on which the said land is newly entered and the page or pages succeeding the same set apart for the entry of dealings in respect thereto, shall be deemed the register of the title of the portion or portions so dealt with.

(8) The register of a parcel of land on which a charge is first entered shall also be the register of the charge, and all entries required by section 33 to be made shall be made therein, and all subsequent dealings with the charge shall also be noted therein, unless for special reasons the Master deems it expedient to transfer the same to a new register, in which case the fact that all such dealings are to be entered in the new register shall be noted in the margin of the old register opposite the entry of the charge. The new register may be either an entirely independent page or succession of pages, or it may be the register of a parcel of land derived from the parcel on which the charge was first entered.

(9) No entry in the register shall be set aside or called in question by reason of any irregularity or informality in any proceeding previous to the making thereof.

(10) The Master may withdraw from the register, by cancellation or otherwise, any notice or entry which he is satisfied no longer affects the registered land.

Substituted Description.

57.—(1) In case the registered owner of any land is desirous that a revised description shall be substituted for the then registered description, the Master, if he sees good reason, may in his discretion cause a revised description to be substituted accordingly.

Rule 49, made under Imp. Act 38 & 39 V. c. 87.

(2) In that case such substituted description shall thenceforth be the registered description of the land, but without prejudice to the description existing at the time of such substitution, so far as relates to estates previously registered.

Plans.

58.—(1) An owner sub-dividing land for the purpose of selling or conveying the same in lots shall deposit with the Master a map of the land on a scale not less than one inch to every four chains, and the scale shall be marked on the plan. The plan shall shew in black India ink the boundaries, numbers and other distinguishing marks of the lots laid out thereby, and shall shew the number of the township, town, or village lots, and range or concession as originally laid out, and all the boundary lines thereof within the limits of the land shewn on the said plan, and where the plan is a sub-division of a lot or lots on a former plan it shall shew in a permanent ink of another colour the numbers or other distinguishing marks of the lot or lots sub-divided and the boundary lines of such lot or lots. The plan shall also shew all roads, streets, lots and commons within the same, with the courses and widths thereof respectively, and also in black India ink the width and length of all lots, and the courses of all division lines between the respective lots within the same, together with such other information as is required to shew distinctly the position of the land being sub-divided.

(2) Every such plan shall be signed by the owner of the land or his agent, or where a corporation is the owner, by the chief officer of the corporation, and shall be certified by an Ontario Land Surveyor in Form 52 given in the schedule appended hereto.

(3) Every such plan shall be mounted on stiff pasteboard of good quality, and in case it exceeds thirty inches in length by twenty-four inches in width shall be folded so as not to exceed this size.

(4) The Master, before filing the plan, may require evidence to be given explaining any seeming discrepancy between the measurements on the plan and the description of the land in the register, or may require evidence respecting any other matter which he considers requires to be explained.

59.—(1) In other cases the Master may require a person applying for registration under this Act, to deposit a map or plan of the land, with the several measurements marked thereon, certified by an Ontario

- (d) If the land, or the portion thereof proposed to be transferred or dealt with, is of greater area than eighty acres, then the map or plan shall be on a scale of one inch to twenty chains.

(2) The owner shall sign the said plan and verify the accuracy of the same before some person authorized under section 139.

(3) If the owner neglects or refuses to comply with such requirements as aforesaid, the Master may refuse to proceed with the registration of the transfer or dealing.

(4) Subsequent sub-divisions of the same land may be delineated upon a duplicate of the map or plan of the same so deposited, if the same is upon a sufficient scale in accordance with the provisions herein contained ; and the correctness of the delineation of each such sub-division shall be acknowledged in the manner prescribed for the case of the deposit of an original map.

(5) Where parts of different legal sub-divisions are included in the same transfer, the map shall represent the whole of such legal sub-divisions, and shall indicate the location of the lands to be transferred ; this shall not be necessary in the case of lots in a city, town or village, the plan of which has been registered, unless the Master shall otherwise direct.

Nothing in this subsection contained shall prevent a Master from himself assuming the performance of any of the duties or services required to be performed prior to the registration of a patentee or his assignee, but this shall not relieve the patentee or his assignee of the obligation to thereafter pay the proper fees payable to the Crown or to the Master for his fees or for his disbursements in respect of any such duty or service.

4. In all cases where a ferry is required over any stream or other water within Ontario, and the two shores of the stream or other water are in different municipalities, such municipalities not being in the same county, the Lieutenant-Governor in Council may grant a license to either of such municipalities exclusively, or to both conjointly, as may be most conducive to the public interest. 5. Where a ferry is required over any stream or other water within Ontario, and the two shores of the stream or other water are in different counties, the Lieutenant-Governor may, instead of granting the license to a minor municipality, grant the same to either of the counties or to both jointly, or to one of them jointly with a city or town, or in the manner provided by the preceding section, as he may consider most conducive to the public interest. 11. If any person unlawfully interferes with the rights of a licensed ferryman, by taking, carrying, and conveying, at any such ferry, across the river or stream on which the same is situate, any person, cattle, carriage, or wares, in any boat, vessel, or other craft, for hire, gain, reward, profit, or hope thereof, or unlawfully does any other act or thing to lessen the tolls and profits of any lessee of the Crown of any such ferry, the offender, upon conviction thereof before a Justice of the Peace, shall forfeit and pay such sum of money not exceeding $20, as the Justice may direct, which sum shall be paid to the party aggrieved, except where he has been examined in proof of the offence, in which case the money shall be applied and accounted for in the same manner as any penalty imposed for a breach of the peace. Municipal Councils may pass by-laws regulating ferries in certain places.

(2) Until the council passes a by-law regulating such ferries, and in the case of ferries not between two places in the same municipality, the Lieutenant-Governor, by Order in Council, may from time to time regulate such ferries respectively, and establish the rates to be taken thereon subject to the provisions of this Act. Where allowance for overflow made to patentee.

15. In case, in an action brought against the proprietor or occupier of a dam, for the overflowing of or injury to land, caused by the erection or continuation of the dam, it appears that the overflowing or other injury was caused by the erection or continuation of a dam which was built before the purchase of the land by the grantee of the Crown and before the grant thereof to him, and that the purchaser obtained a reduction in the price of the land, or was otherwise indemnified in consequence of its being so overflowed or otherwise injured, then on the trial of the action such facts may be taken into consideration, and, if it appears just and equitable, a verdict may in consequence thereof, be found for the defendant. R. S. O. 1887, c. 118, s. 15; 60 V. c. 15, Sched. A (26).

Defendant may plead not guilty, etc.

16. In such action the defendant may plead not guilty by statute, and may thereupon avail himself of the matters of defence herein given. R. S. O. 1887, c. 118, s. 16.

BILLS OF LADING.

Preamble.

5. Whereas by the custom of merchants a bill of lading of goods being transferable by endorsement, the property in the goods may thereby pass to the endorsee, but nevertheless all rights in respect of the contract contained in the bill of lading continue in the original shipper or owner, and it is expedient that such rights should pass with the property; and whereas it frequently happens that the goods in respect of which bills of lading purport to be signed have not been laden on board, and it is proper that such bills of lading in the hands of a bona fide holder for value should not be questioned by the master or other person signing the same, on the ground of the goods not having been laden as aforesaid;

Therefore it is enacted as follows;

Rights and liabilities of consignees and endorsees of bills of lading. Imp. Act, 18-19 V. c. 111.

1. Every consignee of goods named in a bill of lading and every endorsee of a bill of lading to whom the property in the goods therein mentioned passes upon or by reason of such consignment or endorsement, shall have transferred to, and vested in him all rights of action, and be subject to the same liabilities in respect of the goods as if the contract contained in the bill of lading had been made to himself.

Certain rights and liabilities not affected.

2. Nothing in this section contained shall prejudice or affect any right of stoppage in transitu, or any right to claim freight against the original shipper or owner, or any liability of the consignee or endorsee, by reason or in consequence of his being such consignee or endorsee, or of his receipt of the goods by reason or in consequence of such consignment or endorsement.

Bills of lading as evidence against signer.

3. Every bill of lading in the hands of a consignee or endorsee for valuable consideration representing goods to have been shipped on board a vessel or train shall be conclusive evidence of the shipment as against the master or other person signing the same, notwithstanding that the goods or some part thereof may not have been so shipped, unless the holder of the bill of lading has actual notice at the time of receiving the same that the goods had not in fact been laden on board, or unless the bill of lading has a stipulation to the contrary; but the master or other person so signing, may exonerate himself in respect to such misrepresentation, by shewing that it was caused without any default on his part, and wholly by the fraud of the shipper, or of the holder, or of some person under whom the holder claims. R. S. O. 1887, c. 122, s. 5.

WAREHOUSE RECEIPTS, ETC., AS COLLATERAL SECURITY.
